

TAX BILL FINALLY PASSES ASSEMBLY

SMITH MAY USE SENATE AS STEP TO WHITE HOUSE

New York Governor's Victory Over Legislature and Hold on People Amazing

IS SOUGHT AS SENATOR Placed in Congress, He Would Become Outstanding Leader of His Party

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

New York.—The most significant development in Democratic national politics since the last election has been the triumph of Al Smith, Democratic governor of the state of New York, over a legislature dominated by a Republican majority in both houses.

Not only are the Democrats in the Empire state singing the praises of Al Smith but even in such a staunch Republican institution as the Union League club one finds a preponderant sentiment for Al Smith.

The question no longer is a partian one. A legislator is either for or against Al Smith.

KNOWS HIS STATE

All this is due to the fact that Governor Smith knows the state of New York and its problems better than anyone else in the government and in this, his third term, he has conducted himself with such skill, addressing measures of Republican as well as Democratic origin, that even such a Republican organ as the New York Herald-Tribune and the New York Sun have not failed to support him generously.

Whether Mr. Smith's victory, as the legislature comes to an end, is due to the lack of division of the Republican leadership in the state, or whether it is due to the governor's remarkable hold on public opinion, the fact is that the New York governor is ever so much stronger today than he was last November when in the face of an overwhelming vote for Mr.
Coolidge and the election of the on-tire state Republican ticket, he was for the third time elected governor, on the Democratic ticket.

IS INDEPENDENT

Governor Smith has insisted that after 21 years of service to the state he could have no ambition to be governor any longer and that in this, his last term, he was acting for the interest of all the people and not politics. Using the radio frequently, addressing large audiences in person, and holding the support of the press in most cases because of his clear view of public questions, Al Smith has compelled a Republican legislature to follow him in many important projects.

He could find the federal government, for example by bringing about this year, as well as last, a reduction of 25 per cent in income tax. He forced through a bill eliminating grade crossings.

There were many other things of importance which he vetoed, but generally speaking Al Smith's victory is one of the most remarkable in modern politics.

MAY BE SENATOR

It is natural despite Al Smith's disclaimer of political ambition that the politicians should be discussing the effects of his achievements. Two years hence, Senator James Wadsworth, Republican, comes up for reelection. If Al Smith wants the Democratic nomination he can have it, and there are already a number of Republicans who fear that if he wants a place in the United States senate he can have that too.

Some of Al Smith's friends think he will be serious contender for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1928 despite the friction which developed in the Madison Square garden last year. They go on the assumption that Al Smith speaking from a seat in the United States senate, will command national attention and will be one of the outstanding leaders of his party.

PERU PROTEST, COOLIDGE
REPLY TO BE PUBLISHED

Washington.—President Coolidge's reply to the Peruvian memorial with reference to the Tacna-Arica aspiration award will be transmitted this week. Both the reply and the Peruvian communication probably will be made public under an arrangement between the two governments in order to clear up any public misunderstanding on the question involved.

Departure of General Peraz, president of the philatelic commission for South America is being delayed because the Peruvian government has not as yet named its member of the commission.

BOLIVIAN PARADISE OF ALFALFA BILL BRANDED
POOR WHITE ELEPHANT

New York.—The plan of former representative William H. ("Alfalfa")
Burr of Oklahoma to colonize Bolivia with American farmers has struck a snag.

Some time ago the Bolivian government granted Burr 192,000 acres of land in the interior. Returning from Bolivia, Sunday on the steamship Voltaire, William C. Pittner, Colgate, Okla., and Robert Gallentine, Apache, Okla., said the tract sold to them was jungle land and rocky soil in an unhealthy locality and far from any means of transportation.

Gallentine said Burr bought the land for 10 cents an acre and sold it for 60. Pittner and Gallentine became ill with malaria and got back to the United States through the help of American oil officials. On the ship their condition excited the sympathy of passengers who collected $575 to enable them to start anew in Oklahoma.

RACINE BANKERS TRIED FOR FRAUD

Kenosha Attorney Taken Out of Leavenworth to Testify at Trial

Milwaukee.—Will C. Hood, former head of the American National bank of Racine, and Edward F. Freeman, a former director of the bank, went on trial here Monday in federal court on charges of misapplication of bank funds and making false entries.

The indictments are an outgrowth of the Union Food Stores company case. Edwin H. Berry, General Manager of the Union Food Stores company and E. Leslie Osborne, former cashier, who were named in the same indictments entered a plea of guilty
March 9.

Walter Burke, former Kenosha attorney who was sentenced to five years imprisonment in Leavenworth prison when convicted in connection with a whisky plot two years ago was brought here Sunday night and will testify at the trial.

STATE HAD RIGHT TO TRY
CHAPMAN, SAYS ATTORNEY

Hartford, Conn.—State's Attorney
H. H. Alcorn who successfully prosecuted Gerald Chapman for the murder of Policeman James Skelly of New Britain, feels sure that the state of Connecticut had every legal right to try the bandit for the crime and that a sentence of death having been imposed, that sentence will be carried out.

This opinion was expressed by Mr.
Alcorn Monday in comment on a report from Washington that Chapman might have to serve his 25 years sentence in Atlanta.

TAX RETURNS WILL NOT BE POSTED UNTIL JULY

Washington, D. C.—Internal revenue collectors have been ordered by Commissioner Blair to withhold the new income tax records from public inspection until given further authorization from the internal revenue bureau.
The tax returns will not be available to the public until after July 1 at the earliest, and treasury officials expect that the constitutionality of newspaper publications of the tax lists will have been determined by the supreme court by that time.

PICK JURY FOR CHAMSON
TRIAL SET FOR APRIL 20

Green Bay.—District Attorney Ray Evard announced Monday that the trial of William Chamson and Lewis Rehm, both of Shawano, on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the automobile crash near here on February 18, which resulted in the death of Martha Marshall, burning, was tentatively set for April 20. Meanwhile a jury will be picked to try the case.

Bombay, India.—All nine of the men charged with attempting last January to abduct the Natchi Girl Numtaz Begum, former favorite of the Maharaja of Indore, were committed by the magistrate Monday after a preliminary hearing for trial in the Bombay high court.

taken to a cell in the basement of the Hartford courthouse to await the passing of the death sentence on him an hour later.

Aircraft Will Explore Ice Covered Continent

Washington, D. C.—Naval aircraft will attempt this summer to bridge the vast ice expanse that has so far shut out from human knowledge great regions of the arctic where a supposed continent has long lured the tolls of man by sledge without and answer to his quest.
In an expedition headed by Donald E. MacMillan who will return north on his ninth voyage of exploration next June, naval pilots will bring their craft to the avail of man's struggle to map the mysteries of an area of more than a million square miles between Alaska and the north pole.

COPS FIND CLEW TO MURDER OF SLEUTH

Seek Intoxicated Stranger Who Wanted to Give Taxicab
Driver His Pistol

Milwaukee.—Police Monday had the first definite clue in their search for a man who shot and killed Detective Harry Schmidt early Sunday night in the heart of the downtown section here.

E. J. Edwards, a taxi cab driver told authorities that he had picked up a passenger a few blocks from the place where the shooting occurred.
The man appeared to be slightly intoxicated and according to Edwards carried a pistol. He ordered the cab driven to the West side and stopped at a saloon. Just before entering the place he handed the pistol to Edwards saying "take this before I get someone else with it."

"I told him to put it away before we both got into trouble," Edwards is said to have told the police.

The proprietor of the saloon which the man entered told the police that he had been seen about the saloon, and that he had said he lived in Chicago.

French Cabinet Split Over Financial Plan

Paris.—Bills providing for an increase in the bank note circulation amounting to 4,000,000,000 francs and for a voluntary 10 per cent contribution by capital were presented to the cabinet Monday by M. De Monzie, the new finance minister.

The cabinet will meet again Monday night to finish discussion of these measures which when whittled into final form will be presented to the chamber of deputies Tuesday. It is understood that M. De Monzie will take confidence on their adoption.

The sort of capital levy provided for in the bills will be technically a loan to the state bearing a 4 per cent interest. It will be payable in cash or French government securities at slightly above market quotations and will be devoted to amortization of the debt.

DISLIKES STRAIGHT TAX

M. De Monzie is determined to resort to a straight capital levy plan only if the proposed measures prove unacceptable. These measures were debated by the cabinet for two hours and a half when it was decided to adjourn until Monday night.

Premier Herriot is still holding out for a straight capital levy as a solution of France's financial problems.
While M. De Monzie is insisting that there shall be a voluntary contribution of capital.

WEEK IS FATAL

Opening under such difficult circumstances the week is regarded even among the leaders of the parties supporting the premier as likely to prove fatal to the cabinet.

Socialist pressure on the premier continues strong, making an agreement on the financial projects to be presented to the chamber Tuesday extremely difficult. The moderate elements of the Radical party in the senate are equally strong in their opposition to a policy based on Socialist doctrine.

Premier Herriot, it is said by his collaborators, is determined to fight it out and oblige both sides to take a position on a capital levy, both in the chamber and the senate. A clash between the two houses of parliament in case the chamber votes the government measures, is admitted on all hands to be inevitable, with small chances of M. Herriot ever bringing the senators to a compromise acceptable to the chamber.

MAY BREAK CHAMBER

In view of this prospect the Socialists and Radicals are beginning to talk of dissolution of the chamber, while a few weeks ago they were indignant at the suggestion of the adverse parties that new elections were the only way out of the political deadlock.

Political observers say that the division of former President Millerand to a seat in the senate Sunday by giving the opposition what it lacked, namely, a strong leader, is a body blow to the government. It is pointed out further that M. Millerand's success at the polls is, to a certain extent, condemnation of the government's policy.

DOROTHY REGARDS SANITY
EXAMINATION AS A FARCE

San Francisco.—Cross examination of Dr. Jan don Ball against defense was in prospect Monday when the trial to determine the sanity of Dorothy Ellingson, 17-year-old matricide was resumed.

Dr. Ball already has expressed the opinion that the jury is insane. Defense Attorney Walter McGovern said last night that with the final submission of evidence by Dr. Ball, the defense would be prepared to rest its case.

The girl was quoted as having said last night that her "insanity" trial is a farce. They are making a monkey out of me," and that before the trial is over she is going to insist that jurors give her a hearing.

PAPER EXPERIMENTS ON PRINTING CRIME
NEWS ON INNER PAGE

Des Moines, Ia.—The Des Moines
Register Monday began an experiment of segregating all crime news on an inside page, at the suggestion of the Des Moines Federation of Women's clubs.

Monday's second page carried several stories with headlines that illustrated the experiment. "Kills Girl Who Swore Dance" and "Chapman
May Escape Death."

The newspaper pointed out, however, that the experiment is purely a test to see how the plan works out, and that no effort to curtail or increase the ordinary amount of crime news will be made.

HOUSE REFUSES BY 28-13 VOTE TO RECONSIDER

Measure Now Goes to Governor for His Signature to Become State Law

OFFER NEW AMENDMENTS

Proposal of E. B. Minier for 6 Per Cent Deduction Referred to Committee

By Associated Press
Madison.—The stormy progress of income tax bill through the legislature came to an end Monday and it now goes to Governor Blaine. By a vote of 28 to 13, with 28 pairs the assembly refused to reconsider its concurrence in the measure.

Debate was not permissible under the rules. Steps were taken however, to further change the tax laws of the state. Assemblyman E. B. Minier introduced two resolutions asking permission to introduce bills repealing the grain and coal occupational tax offset on income tax payments and providing for the 6 per cent deduction plan in place of the personal property offset repeal. The 6 per cent deduction feature was rejected when offered as an amendment to the income tax bill.

REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

An attempt to obtain immediate consideration of the resolutions was unsuccessful when the assembly refused to suspend the rules and the proposals went to committees. Mr.
Minier explained that his purpose was to remove discriminations which he said existed under the tax bill just passed.

Virtually all important matters were laid over by the assembly until next week and most of the members planned to go home until next Tuesday, under a blanket leave of absence granted Monday. The lower house meets again Wednesday morning merely to see whether favorable senate action is taken on the resolution for adjournment until April 14.
Only about a half dozen members are expected to be in Madison.

SENATORS DIVIDED

Senators are divided on the question of adjournment. A large number are in favor of working all week in an effort to advance the work with a view of earlier sine die adjournment. The other hand, Senator James Barker, the only "dirt" farmer in the senate expresses a keen desire to doff the senatorial toga for overall that a "forty" may be ploughed during the recess. Senator Ben Gettelman is anxious to get ready for his fruit juice and cider party, April 18, to prohibition agents and dregs, and other senators desire recess if only for the purpose of taking the state out of the senate.

For more than two weeks the senate personnel has been in fighting mood. Personalities have been liberally engaged in and one threat has been made to "biff" a colleague on the nose of no one at provocation.
Yet talk by Senator Ben Gettelman has not served to bring about a greater degree of brotherly love among senators for and against modification of the Severson dry act.

"Frank" bills have served in a measure to clog the machinery of law making by precipitating lengthy debate and the whole category of blocking tactics.

CHINA MISSIONARY, WIFE
PERILED BY NEW ATTACK

Peking.—The missionaries of the China Inland Mission at Shanghai has telegraphed to Peking that Hunan government troops are attacking Shen-chi, where the China inland missionary Tompkinson and his wife are stationed. A later message states that Assistant Superintendent Cim reached Shenchi, and that the danger there has been intensive. The British legation has made representations to the Chinese foreign office in the matter.

INTEREST IN MICHIGAN STATE ELECTION LAGS

By Associated Press
Detroit, Mich.—Nine state offices are to be chosen and scores of local issues decided at Tuesday's state election. Little interest was being displayed throughout the state despite ideal election weather.

State officers to be elected are:
Two justices of the state supreme court, two regents of the University of Michigan, two members of the state board of agriculture, a superintendent of public instruction, a state highway commissioner and one member of the state board of education.

HASTEN GARBAGE DISPOSAL PLAN, PLEA OF WOMEN

Appleton Womens Club Adopts Resolution—Says It Should Come Next

Because they regard garbage disposal the next most important step to be taken in Appleton following the erection of the junior high schools and the bridges, the women of the city department of Appleton Womens club passed a resolution favoring a systematized disposal of garbage in Appleton through action of the city council, at a meeting in the clubhouse Saturday noon. Mrs. S. C. Jostebush led the discussion and outlined Sheboygan's method of garbage disposal. About 20 women attended the meeting.

Mrs. Rosebush said that Appleton's experience with the garbage question is perhaps no different from that of any other city of its size, but it can be said that Appleton is decidedly behind the times. If old residents were asked what they did with their garbage, she said, they probably would reply that they threw it behind the barn or fed some of it to the chickens. She declared that Appleton has outgrown the old method of each household taking care of its own garbage and that this method is particularly offensive because of its lack of sanitation.

STOP INSECT BREEDING
"Our sanitary ideas," she said, "are today far advanced over what they were a few years ago. The old slogan, 'swat the fly,' is becoming antiquated and the more modern method of doing away with all the material that forms breeding places for flies and other disease-carrying insects is being adopted by progressive communities."

Mrs. Rosebush brought out that for several years the city has depended upon several farmers to gather the garbage and at the present time there are six collectors. This method is not adequate, the women feel, for the collectors take only what every household has to dispose of. There is left in cans, bottles, ashes and other non-combustible materials. If these are left for each household to dispose of, it is not done regularly and the result is an untidy city. It also was pointed out that by this method only about 70 per cent of the people are reached and the other 30 per cent feed the garbage to the chickens, burn it or bury it, which in all cases is not possible at all times of the year.

SYSTEM NOT EFFECTIVE
As it is now, Mrs. Rosebush said, each household looks after the disposal of its own garbage, consisting of table refuse, and usually pays $1 a month to the collector, who feeds the garbage to his chickens or hogs and buries the rest.

"The problem of our city involves itself into two things, the collection and disposal," she said. "The collection is not a big question, but the disposal is more of a problem. There are two kinds of disposal plants, one an incinerator and the other a rendering plant."

Sheboygan, a city recently visited by members of the council to study the garbage disposal system there, has one of the most efficient incinerators in the United States. All garbage is burned. This, however, is expensive because of the coal used.

A rendering plant, it was pointed out, used the refuse to make fertilizer and the fat for soap and candles, both of which almost pay for the upkeep.

The method used by Sheboygan were discussed and a survey of the situation in that city, made by members of the Appleton city council at her visit there, was read.

DEATHS

EDWIN J. LILLGE

Edwin J. Lillge, 32 a veteran of the World war, died at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the home of his brother, Herman Lillge, 500 E. Brewster-st., after a long illness. He was a first class private in the machine gun company of the Forty-seventh Infantry, Fourth division. He sailed for France, May 9, 1918, and took part in five major battles, Aisne-Marne, Toulain sector, St. Mihiel, Vesel sector and Meuse-Argonne, and then joined the army of occupation. He was gassed in the Meuse-Argonne battle and was taken to a hospital for treatment and then returned to United States for treatment on April 26, 1919. He was confined to a hospital at Denver, Colo., until Nov. 20, 1922.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lillge, Appleton; three brothers, Herman, Fred and Henry, Appleton; three sisters, Rose, Appleton; Mrs. Charles Henry, Tiskilwa, Ill.; Mrs. O. G. Goepfert, Long Island City, N. Y.

The funeral will be at 1:30 Wednesday afternoon from the home of his brother, Herman Lillge, and at 2 o'clock from Zion Lutheran church, with the Rev. Theodore Marsh in charge. Interment will be made in Riverside cemetery. Military services will be conducted by Oney Johnston post of the American legion.

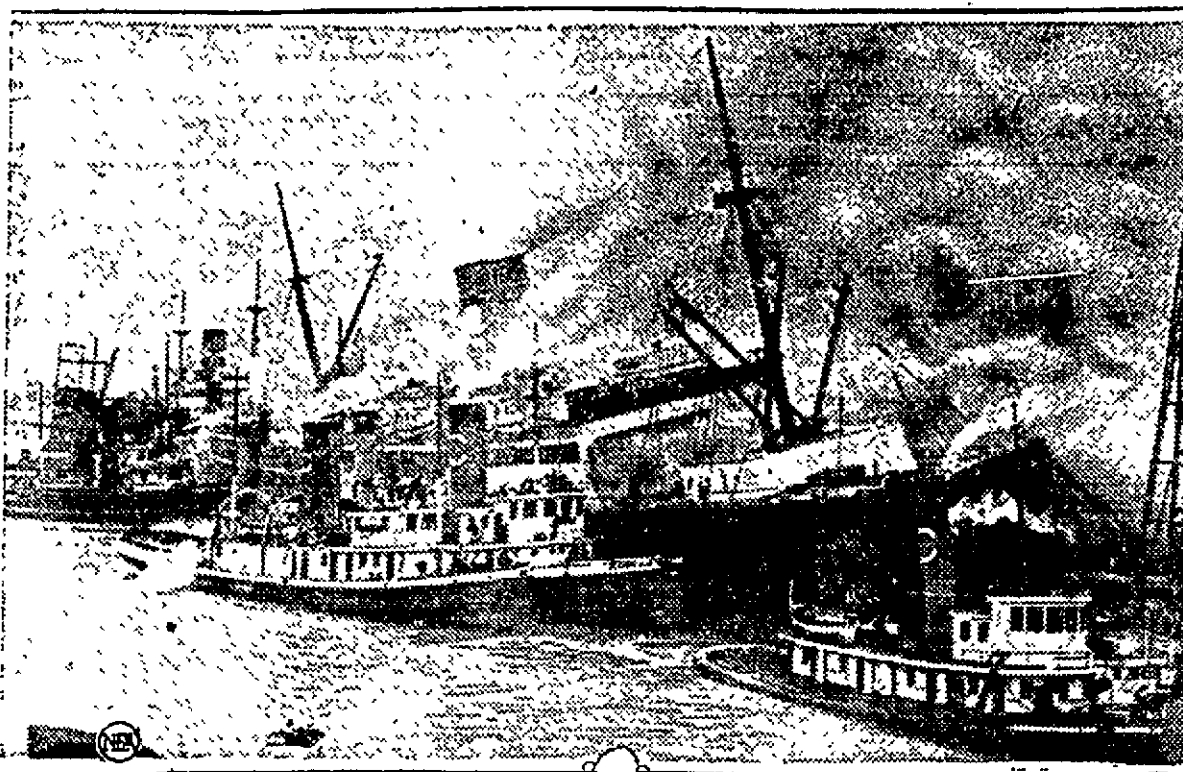

MRS. ROBERT HALEN

Mrs. Robert Halen, 52, died at Eau Claire, Sunday afternoon. She is survived by her widower, two sisters, Mrs. Jacob Kempf, Appleton, and Mrs. John Gardner of West De Pere. The body will be taken to the home of Mrs. Jacob Kempf, N. Lawrence-st., Tuesday afternoon. Funeral services will be arranged later.

MRS. AUGUSTA MELCHERT

Mrs. Augusta Melchert, 79, a resident of Appleton for 50 years, died Saturday afternoon at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Charles Durand, 829 E. Lincoln-st. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Mary Gehring of Chicago, five grandchildren,

PRIDE OF FLEET GOES TO WATERY GRAVE

Only a wrecked and scorched hull was left of the palatial $2,500,000 liner, the S. S. Blenville, following a blaze caused by explosion of her oil tanks. The vessel, which plied between New Orleans and New York, sank in the Mississippi River at New Orleans.

SHARP RIVALRY ASSURES HEAVY ELECTION VOTE

Aldermanic Race Hotly Contested in All Wards but One

A heavy vote is expected in the final elections Tuesday for alderman and supervisor, with competition strongest in the First, Second and Sixth wards. William Eggert and Pitney Earl, Second ward candidates for alderman, are expected to stage the closest race, for in the primaries Earl's name was written on more ballots than Eggert received.

In the First ward Howell G. Thomas and Mark Catlin are candidates, and politicians believe this race also will be hotly contested. Herman Beske, incumbent, will be opposed by J. H. Fielder in the Sixth ward aldermanic contest. The largest vote of the primaries was cast in this ward two weeks ago, and indications are that the same will be true Tuesday.

Charles Fose is without opposition in the Fifth ward, owing to the withdrawal of E. R. Rachow who also was nominated. In the Third, Charles F. Smith is the incumbent with Francis X. Bachman as an opponent for reelection. Robert F. McGilgan and John C. Hamel are Fourth ward candidates.

The hardest fight in the race for supervisor is expected in the Fourth ward, where George C. Dame has been marshaling his forces for the past weeks to oppose John Tracy, L. P. Bushey in the First ward, Patrick H. Ryan in the Second ward and Louis Jens in the Sixth ward are without opposition. In the Third ward Joseph Beyer and William F. Otto are nominees, and in the Fifth ward John Kohl and Peter Rademacher are expected to run close.

Judge A. M. Spencer is without opposition for municipal judge, while Francis J. Rooney is opposing Judge Fred V. Heinemann for county judge.

Ignorance on the part of voters as to where the polling places were located was blamed in part for the small turnout at the primary elections. The voting places were announced before the election, but voters were not sufficiently interested to look them up, according to political observers.

The polling booth in the first precinct of the First ward will be in the First ward school, on Franklin-st.; in the second precinct it will be in the store building at 222 E. College-ave. In the Second ward the first precinct booth will be in the Central Motor Car Co. garage, 127 E. Washington-st.; second precinct, in the basement of city hall, S. Oneida-st.

In the first precinct of the Third ward the booths will be installed in the Reo garage, 527 W. College-ave; in the second at the corner of Spencer and Outagamie-sts.

Fourth ward voters will exercise their franchise at the corner of Maple Grove-st. and Walter-ave for the first precinct, and in the Fourth ward school for the second precinct.

The public service building in the stock fairgrounds will hold the booths for the first precinct of the Fifth ward, and the Feuerstein upholstery shop at the rear of his home, 715 W. Harrison-st., the second precinct booths.

Voters of the Sixth ward will cast their ballots at 222 E. Commercial-st. if they are in the first precinct, and at 505 N. Appleton-st. if they reside in the second.

Booths will open at 6 o'clock in the morning and close at 5 o'clock in the evening, but anyone standing in line when the booths close will be allowed to cast his vote.

Smith Will Speak
E. N. Smith, president of Appleton Rotary club, will have charge of the meeting at 12:15 Tuesday noon in Conway hotel. Mr. Smith has just returned from California. No other program has been arranged.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 Tuesday afternoon from the home and at 2 o'clock at Zion Lutheran church with the Rev. Theodore Marsh in charge. Interment will be in Riverside cemetery. Mrs. Melchert was a member of the Ladies Aid society and the Relief society of Zion church.

Mrs. George Puth, S. State-st., who has been seriously ill at St. Elizabeth hospital, will return to her home Tuesday.

Plane Takes Nose Dive As It Hits Fence

Appleton had its first airplane crash Sunday afternoon when the plane owned and operated by C. H. Chamberlin and brought here from Milwaukee 10 days ago, struck the top strand of a barbed wire fence around the field in which it operates on the road to Menasha and tipped up on its nose.

The pilot and a passenger who were in the plane at the time were uninjured, although the propeller was smashed and some of the running gear badly damaged. The shortness of the field and gusty wind were blamed for the accident, according to Mr. Chamberlin, who said the plane had been overhauled and found in perfect condition immediately before the attempted flight. Mr. Chamberlin will try to find a larger, smoother field for future flights.

GOT THRILL, FINE IN RACE TO FIRE

Appleton autolists know that it is expensive to speed with the fire department to a fire because the police patrol follows faithfully behind the last truck but the stranger encountering the chase gets a thrill out of it—and usually, as in the case of two men Saturday, draws a fine.

Walter Westphal, Clintonville, and Joseph Pierre, route 1, Appleton, paid for their sport in municipal court Monday morning. The total fine for the two was $12.00 for speeding and $10.00 for reckless driving. They were charged on W. College-ave at about 30 miles an hour, with Chief George T. Prim and Officer John Kobussen recording their pace. One license number was jotted down while the patrol pursued the other and both drivers were notified in due time to appear in court.

Carl Radtke, motorcycle officer, also added two more drivers to the speeders' roll for the season. He arrested Herbert Weber, 742 W. Prospect-ave and Jack Rose, 403 N. Wood-st. Saturday afternoon on W. College-ave. Weber was charged with a 28-mile gait and Rose with 26 miles. They paid $13.20 each in municipal court Monday morning.

TEN ARE NOMINATED FOR C. C. DIRECTOR

Ten names have been chosen as nominees for director of the chamber of commerce by the nominating committee and ballots will be sent out to the members instructing them to vote for five.

Men proposed for the board to fill the terms of five now expiring are W. G. Conner, Karl A. Schuetter, T. E. Orlikson, James A. Wood, F. E. Holbrook, Henry Tuttrup, E. N. Smith, Herman Gotschew, Dr. A. E. Reitor and H. K. Walter.

A time limit will be set during which voting will be permitted and the nominating committee then will canvass the ballot and announce the results at the annual dinner on April 14. Phil A. Gray of Milwaukee, is to be the speaker.

The Weather

WEATHER FOR WISCONSIN
For tonight, Tuesday increasing cloudiness. Somewhat warmer to night except in extreme southeast portion. Warmer Tuesday in east portion.

GENERAL WEATHER
High pressure which has persisted over the Lake region for several days appears now to be moving eastward slowly, although it continues to dominate the weather from the Missouri valley to the Atlantic coast. Mean-while low pressure area over the Indiana region is forcing itself slowly eastward with increasing cloudiness and mild temperature over the western plains. A continuance of this eastward movement of the weather control favors increasing cloudiness in this section by Tuesday with a slow rise in temperature.

BOYS ON VACATION SEEING 12 PLANTS

Y. M. C. A. Arranges Tours to Large Factories for All Appleton Boys

Final schedules for the series of industrial tours conducted by the boys' division of the Y. M. C. A. for all boys of Appleton were issued Monday. The trips are being conducted all this week through many of the important industrial plants of the vicinity. The motto of the group is "know your town."

Prizes will be awarded for the best report on all the tours and for the best each day. The enrollment slips show the names of 37 boys signed up for the trips.

The boys are scheduled to meet at the "Y" at 1:30 each afternoon and at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. The week's schedule follows:

Monday, 2:30—Wisconsin Wire Works; 3:30—Appleton Coated Paper Co.

Tuesday, 2 o'clock—City water works; 2:30—Appleton Engraving Co. 3 o'clock—City gas plant.

Wednesday, 10:30—Mory Ice Cream Co.; 2:30—Fox River Paper Co.

Thursday, 2:30—Fox River Valley Knitting Co.

Friday, 2:30—Appleton Woolen Mills; 3 o'clock—Valley Iron Works. Other mills to be visited on dates not yet set are the Tuttle Press Co., and Interlake Pulp and Paper Co.

DIVORCE ILLEGAL, MARRIAGE ANNULED

Findings that her marriage to John E. Stevens took place on July 8, 1924 at Manitowish was illegal because Stevens had not been legally divorced from a former wife, Jennie L. Stevens brought action against him and their marriage was annulled Monday morning by Judge Edgar V. Werner in circuit court. The court found that Stevens had married the plaintiff though not legally divorced from Elizabeth House, whom he married on March 8, 1919 at Rockford, Ill., and therefore declared the present marriage void. Testimony brought out the fact that he had made no effort to inform her of this situation and that she had married him in good faith, thinking him to be properly divorced. Both reside in the town of Oneida.

The court found that there should be no alimony, but the plaintiff was given the use of her maiden name, Jennie Lind E. Wheeler, and was given the residence in the town of Oneida. There were no children. Lonsford and Stadel represented the plaintiff.

SAHARA EXPRESS GIVES TRAVELER LOTS OF VARIETY

Journey Includes Liner, Train, River Boat, Trek and Automobiles

By Associated Press

Paris—The Sahara Express, a bi-weekly service which will be inaugurated next month, will take the traveler from Paris to Timbuctoo in 12 days. The trip from Paris to Colomb-Béchar, via rail to Marseilles, boat to Algiers and rail to Colomb-Béchar will occupy three days.

The first stage of the trek through the desert from Colomb-Béchar to Beni-Abbés, is over a distance of 200 kilometers, 50 of which is covered in caterpillar automobiles and 150 in cars with wheels. The second day in the desert ends at Timoudi, 170 kilometers from Beni-Abbés, the entire distance being covered in caterpillar cars. Andar, with its 4,000,000 date trees and fortified town looking like a medieval fortress, 250 kilometers away from Timoudi, is the terminus of the third day in the desert.

TRAVEL BY AUTO

Regular automobiles with wheels are used on the third day as well as on the fourth, which provides for a jump of 450 kilometers from Adrar to Ounillen, through the Tanezrouft, the native name "for land of thirst and fear." On the fifth day 510 kilometers are negotiated in cars with wheels, through the same desolate country, ending at Tessalit. The sixth day is devoted to resting at Tessalit; on the seventh day the cars cover 280 kilometers to Tabankort, and on the eighth day after a trip of 350 kilometers the Niger is reached at Gao.

The last stage of the journey from Gao to Timbuctoo is 500 kilometers on the Niger in river boats.

SLEEP INDOORS

Tourists will not have to sleep in the open; hotels are being put up at each terminal point in the desert for their accommodation. At Beni-Abbés they will be quartered in a palace on the edge of a cliff; the old castle at Adrar will be placed at their disposal and also the palace at Timbuctoo.

DE MOLAY COMEDY OCCURS TONIGHT

Final rehearsals have been held for "Nothing But the Truth", the play which John F. Rose, chapter, Order of DeMolay, will present Monday night in Fischer Appleton theatre under the direction of Miss Ruth McKennan. The plot revolves around the role taken by Eugene Cole, who in the play promises to tell nothing but the truth for one day.

Mr. Cole has the "hero" lead and provides much of the humor in the play. He has taken part in numerous civic and high school dramatic productions and is well known for his ability to create laughter.

Mrs. John Engel, Jr., also noted for her dramatic ability, has one of the leading parts in the play. The entire cast has been chosen from the best talent in the city.

MORE SECRET SERVICE MEN IN EUROPE THAN IN 1914

By Associated Press

Amsterdam—Continental travelers are firmly of the opinion that more men and women bent on secret service are roving about Europe today than was the case before the war. The hotel accommodations filled with them.

These operatives are not always referred to as spies, nor does their attention in spite of the fact that 1,000,000 more men are under arms in Europe today than ten years ago. The espionage of the present time relates more to questions of economics and matters of policies and politics.

Man investigators doubtless are active in the interests of the Soviet government at Moscow.

being stalled in these palaces of the desert sandy wastes and dance music will be provided in the evenings.

The "Sahara Express" will have one modern improvement—which is unknown in transcontinental expresses in the United States or Orient Express in Europe. A machine gun will be carried in the first and last car of the caravan, to ward off any possible attack by natives.

Pettigrew Points Out Opportunities for Service in Postal Department

H. J. Pettigrew, addressing the Post Office association at its weekly meeting Saturday night, discussed the drafting of wealth as well as man power in future wars in which the United States may become involved.

Mr. Pettigrew, vice in post commander of Oney Johnston post of the American legion, told of the legion's work in support of the bill now before congress to attain this end, and also of the legion's service to the country in general.

He talked on service, its meaning and application and stressed the point that all life in business is service and service is the best foundation for contentment. The postal men, he said, are in a position to give service and their work is more closely woven with the community than that of any other public servant. He said that the postoffice was the only federal department that was not impersonal because it came in direct contact with those whom it served. The entire department, he said, is judged by what the mailman does.

After supper, members of the association discussed changes in services and rates resulting from the recent postal pay increase law.

Many, Many Houses—How Many Homes?

There are many, many houses, but how many of them can be called homes? A house should express the personality of its owner. This personality may be seen in the kind of furniture he has and the way he arranges it, but the liveableness of a house depends a great deal on the way the house has been planned and built.

Our architectural service has aided many prospective home builders in the planning of their homes. Into each plan have gone the individual ideas of the owner, modified or added to in order to be entirely practical, yet home-like and distinctive. Houses which we have helped plan, and then have built are modern and planned for convenience. They also express their owner. They are homes.

You will find that the most practical, economical, and satisfactory way to build a home is to have it planned and built by the Standard Manufacturing Company.

The advice of our architectural service is yours for the asking without putting you under any obligation whatsoever. It is our service to the prospective home builders of Appleton.

START CHILDREN ON RIGHT ROAD IN HOMES, P-T TOLD

J. L. Johns Gives Address at Black Creek Meeting on Training of Youth

Parents can so train their children at home that they will be satisfactory pupils in school and in that way teachers can be assisted to make their work successful. J. L. Johns, president of First Ward Parent-Teachers association of Appleton, said in an address at the regular meeting of the Parent-Teacher association at Black Creek Thursday evening.

Mr. Johns said parent-teacher associations started 25 years ago in Washington, D. C. and they were so successful that there are today a half a million members in 46 states.

Associations have been of much help in localities where many foreign-born live, said the speaker. Health instruction, recreation and factors of that sort have helped to stimulate better citizenship. Better buildings and equipment have resulted. Teachers, lunches, supervised dancing, cooperation in practical culture and development of democracy have been possible.

GIVE SQUARE DEAL. Children should be given a square deal so far as their relations to their parents and their home life are concerned, the parents were told. Parents should learn to be loving but not so indulgent they lost control of their discipline.

It is important to the welfare of a child that the parents respect confidences. If a youngster comes to a father or a mother to tell of something wrong that has been done, there should not be a tirade of abuse or criticism but rather a helpful talk of guidance. Parents ought to learn to be pals to their children, hiding the fact that they are the boss and letting the child use his ideas as well.

Another great help to those with the child problem on their hands, said Mr. Johns, is to try to gain a very intimate contact with the young one. A parent should talk over school work, play and thoughts and ideas with a child, for he thus learns wherein the child needs help or correction.

PROBLEM FOR TEACHERS. Teachers have more of a problem on their hands than the average parent realizes, according to the speaker. They usually have 40 or 50 children in small rooms where there are hard benches or chairs and where many methods of study are used and the discipline usually is rigid. It is well, therefore, that a parent try to do as much as possible in the home to create discipline and interest, because it helps the teacher that much.

It is not easy for an instructor to detect weaknesses or peculiarities of each of the pupils. The parent who knows about these should see the teacher to explain them. The teacher

FIRE DESTROYS THREE BUILDINGS

Fire of unknown origin destroyed the private garage, slaughter house, and most of an icehouse at the home of Charles Meier, Black Creek, about 3:30 Saturday afternoon. The Black Creek fire department was unable to start its motor pump so the Appleton department was called, but when it arrived the machine was running and the flames were under control. Mr. Meier succeeded in getting his Studebaker sedan and Ford truck out of danger.

Had the wind been in the opposite direction, probably a whole block would have been destroyed. The loss was about $800 and only a small amount of insurance was carried.

Mr. Meier is proprietor of the Black Creek meat market.

CARS COLLIDE HEAD-ON ON ROAD TO MENASHA

Occupants of cars narrowly escaped serious injury Saturday night when a sedan driven by Richard Kronberg of Clintonville collided with a car driven by James Atchison of Greenville Saturday night on the Appleton-Menasha road.

Mr. Atchison and a party consisting of his daughter, her child, a neighbor and a friend was driving to Appleton from Menasha. According to his statement he was well to the right side of the road when the other car, coming from the opposite direction, struck the side of his car.

There were four young men in the sedan, according to Mr. Atchison, but none of them appeared to be injured. Mr. Atchison's car was not damaged beyond a bent fender, a bent axle and several scratches, and was able to get into Appleton on its own power. The sedan, on the other hand, was badly wrecked and had to be towed in.

then can plan the child's training to meet these conditions. There is no way to help the child than for parents and teachers to express their ideas.

Mr. Johns quoted figures to show the appalling amount of crime in this country, declaring that one out of every fourteen crimes committed in New York is by a youth from 17 to 28 years of age. It is found also that out of 52,000,000 children in the public schools there are 25,000,000 who are not connected with any church or Sunday school. One court's record showed that 90 per cent of the criminals were those who never had any contact with church or Sunday school.

NIAGARA SAFETY RECORD IN DANGER

Mead Pulp and Paper Mill in Ohio Gives Badger Workmen Hard Race

The Niagara mill of the Kimberly-Clark company has become known as having the safest paper mill crew in the world, and until recently this title has remained unchallenged on the side of the other Kimberly-Clark mills. The mill in a record year in 1923, suffered only five lost-time accidents, with a continuous run of 150 working days without an accident.

The mill has now entered a three-month no-accident race with the Mead Pulp and Paper mill of Chillicothe, Ohio. The contest started April 1 and is to end June 30, and came as a result of meetings held by the mill council and foremen's club, at which those present were unanimously in favor of the project.

The Mead Pulp and Paper company, which up to November of last year, had an average of seven lost-time accidents a month for the first eleven months of 1924, has started a successful safety campaign and interesting results are being shown. Since their November campaign until March 26, there has not been a single accident causing loss of time, giving them a run of 125 consecutive safety days. With a payroll nearly as large as the one at the Niagara mill the Mead mill is establishing a record that will compare favorably with the record made by the Niagara mill in 1923.

The rules of the contest are to be those of the National Safety Council. If an employee is injured at his or her regular work for the company and is unable to return to work at the beginning of the next regular shift, it is to be counted as an accident and points will be deducted accordingly. Ratios for point deduction have been made allowing 570 employees at the Ohio mill and 650 at the Niagara plant. The winning mill will be awarded a large banner, suitably inscribed.

PUBLISHERS START 1925 AUTO TOUR IN APPLETON

Appleton will be the starting point for next summer's tour of the Wisconsin Press association, which was arranged recently by John A. Kuypers of De Pere, president, and L. J. Zimmerman of Burlington, secretary during a conference at Milwaukee. The tour will end in Green Bay. There will be about 200 in the party, including owners of weekly newspapers and members of their families. The tour will be by motor car. For several years the association has toured different parts of the state on a summer outing. The time required is five days.

The tour will start in Appleton this year on Thursday, August 6, and will include stops at Stevens Point, Shawano, Antigo, with visits to scenic spots in the locality of these cities, ending in Green Bay, August 10. De Pere will be visited before the publishers end the tour. Arrangements to entertain the visitors will be made by civic clubs of the cities to be visited.

EXTEND BENEFITS OF POSTAL PAY INCREASE

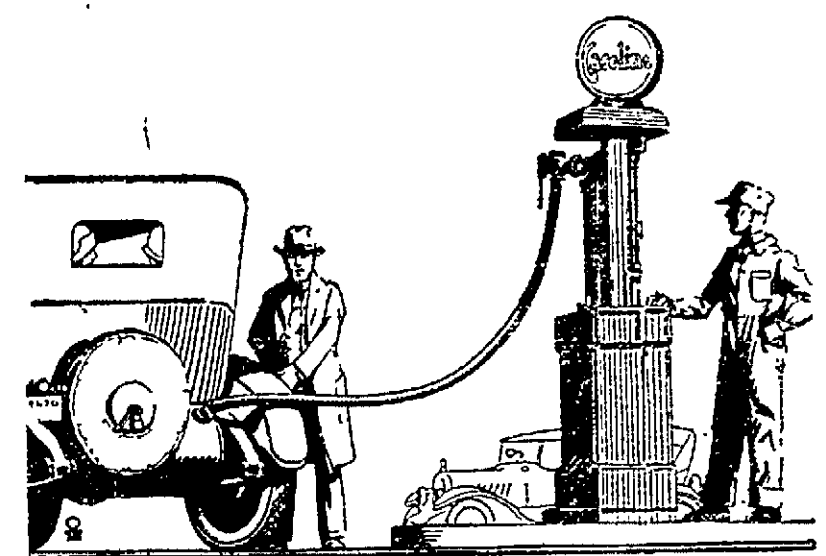

Postmasters and other postal employees separated from the service after Jan. 1 and before approval of the pay increase bill of Feb. 23, will share in the benefits of the new act, according to a recent ruling of the comptroller general's department. This means that any postal employee who by reason of death, resignation, removal or retirement left the service after the bill and because effective before its approval still is entitled to the increase that would have been paid him had he remained in the service. In case an employee died during the time specified his heirs will receive the benefits.

WRENCH IN POLITICAL MACHINE

The senate could do business with the governor on his tax revision upward program, but when it came to satisfying his personal grievances against the state commission, it was honest with itself or afraid of the cars. Whatever the reason, the governor's preposterous bill to reorganize the highway commission to make it a political appendage to the administration by removing the two ex-officio members, who are engineering and geological experts, was badly beaten after a prolonged session and extraordinary efforts of the Blaine henchman to browbeat the majority into submission. The governor's dislike of the highway commission dates back to his differences with A. R. Hirst, the best highway administrator Wisconsin has had, and whom the governor succeeded in getting rid of after Mr. Hirst had the temerity to run against him for re-election.

Mr. Blaine's idea of executive power seems to be to make every state institution and every branch of public service a machine appendage. He has done this openly with regard to the state charitable and penal institutions, and two years ago he succeeded in reorganizing the board of regents of the state university into a political body.

People of Wisconsin are beginning to understand the effects of such policies, particularly in the case of the university, which has been maltreated by politicians until it has declined to a low state and is threatened with disaster. There was no possible excuse for the governor's desire to tamper with the state highway commission. It was an act of political and personal reprisal, and it is a fortunate thing for Wisconsin that it has escaped the evil consequences of this scheme.

U. S. WEALTH PER MAN

What state would you say stood first in per capita wealth, the amount of property in dollars held by the average resident?

You might think of New York, and you might think of Michigan, where Detroit is said to have the highest per capita wealth of any city on earth.

As a matter of fact, however, the richest state per man and woman is the state of smallest population and smallest total wealth, Nevada.

In 1922 there was $6,998 of property for every man, woman and child in that state, as contrasted to $3,436 in New York. The next richest state per man was Wyoming, whose mines and oil and ranching industries are valued at $4,663 apiece for all residents.

Crowds of course will bring down the total, states with big cities being the concentrating points for floaters and people of small income. This per capita wealth might be regarded as a fairly good index to the average contentment and happiness. The two happiest major sections of America from this standpoint are the Pacific coast and the farming "west north central" group which consists of Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas.

That may come with something of a shock to people who imagine that discontent, revolt and radicalism have their fomenting center right out in those very sections. Some of the high wealth figures in the upper Mississippi valley are of course due to the land mortgage system and fictitious boosting of values. But on the whole the sense of property responsibility which makes good citizens is most notable through the corn belt. There is no danger to the nation's institutions in that part of the country.

Total per capita wealth for the United States is greatly reduced by the figures for the southern states, and stands at $870. That's of course higher than anywhere else on earth; and with many New England textile manufacturers moving their industries south and millionaires rushing to Florida we may expect a steadily increasing prosperity even in retarded Dixie.

"MA" IS FOR JIM

"Ma" Ferguson, governor of Texas, has signed an amnesty bill restoring political rights to her husband, Jim Ferguson, the de facto governor who is actually running the state.

That settles of course, any question whether "Ma" thought Jim was guilty of the misuse of public funds for which he was impeached by a previous legislature and removed from office. The people of Texas in electing "Ma" either decided to forgive Jim or determined that he is not guilty. The legislature of Texas has taken the same step. Nothing remained except the assent of Jim's wife, which she has given with the statement that it is "the happiest signature I have ever written."

The rest of the nation, however, frankly is unsatisfied. It cannot take that unalloyed interest in the achievement of a woman in being elected governor of the largest commonwealth in America, which it might have taken if something more than the proof of politics had been offered of her husband's innocence. Votes are not evidence. A pardon is not always a vindication. And an amnesty bill does not necessarily establish a public assumption of innocence.

Has Mr. Ferguson ever gone into the courts to sue for libel those who, he claims, unjustly maligned him, slaughtered his reputation by lies and deprived him of his office by impeachment? Has he ever presented his claims to any other tribunal than the unsteady and entirely unjudicial one of the ballot box?

BEAR RIBS

An Indian named "Bear Ribs" was a prophet before his time. His tribe, the Hunkapapas, killed him for favoring white man's honesty, white man's education and white man's shirts and shoes in a time when his people had just got through fighting the white man. In token of repentance at their error and of thanks for their recent reception into the ranks of American citizens, North Dakota Indians have just christened Calvin Coolidge after their martyr to new ideas. Henceforth, out in the Bad Lands he is Bear Ribs Coolidge.

An accidental irony entered into this piece of Indian symbolism. Calvin Coolidge has most decidedly lived up to a Bear Ribs reputation with the Washington, D. C., tribe of red men. He hasn't played the game on some measures which may be popular now but written down as folly in history.

Most notable is the present tax bill, in favoring which most of congress and perhaps most of his countrymen appeared to disagree with him. Eventually the country will put on the white shirt and collar of a good tax policy, getting taxes out of wealth instead of driving wealth to evasion and putting the burden on people of comparatively small means. Then it, too, may look back and thank Bear Ribs Coolidge.

ROCK-ABYE DAYS.

I'd like to return to my yesteryears, when I was a wee little kid. The thought of those days is a thought that cheers. I laugh at the things I did. Like all little folks I was trouble bent, and mischief played with me. Gee, how many hours in my room I spent for the pranks that would run me free.

I benefit now, in a dozen ways, by the things that my parents taught. I used to get spanked in the good old days, for the pranks that I'd do, when caught. I didn't know then, nor appreciate the life that was handed me. But now I look back when it's much too late, on the freedom that used to be.

I guess I'm no different than other men, who also have grown and grown. We'd all kinds like to go back again to the days when few things were known. The memory we have of a wonderful thing when around in our minds it plays. No wonder we wish that our wish could bring those rock-a-bye baby days.

UPHOLSTERED SIDEWALKS.

I notice, writes a Chicago man, that you are a great advocate of oxygen on the hoof. But in Chicago you can't get oxygen on the hoof; all you can get is smoke and the fatiguing thump of cement sidewalks.

I have come to the conclusion, this man, who presumably resides well back of the sidewalk stock yards, observes, that walking on cement sidewalks wrecks people's nerves. You can't walk far before you are all in. I know there is a great difference in working on a cement floor and a wooden floor. The man who works on a cement floor is tired out when evenings come. The man who works on a wooden floor is not. Why not make the sidewalks out of old rubber? The wastage of that commodity in the form of discarded automobile tires might be put to good use. Nowadays the junk men won't even buy the old tire casings. Rubber tires are put on automobiles to save the bearings. Why not put pneumatic soles on our shoes to save our nerves. I feel satisfied that hard cement sidewalks are the cause of many nervous troubles. (J. S. A.)

It is a common belief among workers that a wooden floor is less fatiguing to stand on than a cement or concrete or tile or stone or asphalt floor or surface. But there is no good reason to suppose that it is more tiring to walk on cement sidewalks than it is to walk on wooden sidewalks or gravel or turf. The necessity of picking one's way and avoiding collisions with other persons on the street, and dodging traffic at crossings, makes a walk in the city more fatiguing than a walk in the open country or away from the crowded street.

There are practically pneumatic soles in use now. A material called crepe rubber, of porous, spongy texture, gives such a cushioning effect, but this has not made much headway with walkers who have tried it.

Rubber heels have long been worn by people who seek to protect the brain, spinal cord, nerves or something from the hard shock and shocks assumed to happen when the hard shoe heels strike the ground. I like rubber heels because they wear better than leather heels, but all this talk about protecting the nervous system from such alleged shocks is apple sauce, I think. Another desirable feature of rubber heels is that they help to diminish the noise nuisance, especially in large business places, where many persons walk about on wooden floors. You may enter that as insulation of the nervous system of the listener if you like.

A rubber sidewalk would be a sensible investment. No doubt, if the old rubber tubes were not so eagerly snatched up by makers of rubber educators.

To one with weak or pronated feet (the early stage of flat feet), a cement sidewalk, concrete or asphalt pavement seems very hard indeed, and there is joy in walking over soft turf because this acts as a temporary arch prop. But the oxygen is to be had on the hoof anywhere about Chicago is just as good as any oxygen to be had anywhere, in my judgment, provided one maps out his itinerary with all due regard for the prevailing wind and the stock yards.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Diet of Diabetic.

Recently you recommended a book about diet for diabetic patients. Please give the name again. My physician advises me to get it. (H. M.)
Answer.—"A Primer for Diabetic Patients," by Dr. Wilder and Dietitians Foley and Ellithorpe, published by W. B. Saunders company, Philadelphia, Pa., is very good. It contains outlines for diet instructions for making the sugar test, and menus and recipes. A very similar book called "Diabetic Diet" by Dietitians McIlenny and Cooper, who work under the direction of Dr. F. G. Banting (discoverer of insulin) and his colleagues, Dr. J. A. Gill and Dr. C. H. Best, is published by Harper & Bros., New York. The former costs a simoleon, and was the smallest amount of book I ever saw for the price, until the latter appeared, even less book, for the record breaking price of two simoleons.

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO.

Monday, April 9, 1900.

A daughter was born Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nabherfeld, Jr.

Miss Effie Simpson and John Stone of Baraboo, were married that evening by the Rev. F. T. Rouse.

Lawrence university baseball team was defeated Saturday by the University of Wisconsin, score 29 to 5.

A new wall paper store was opened at 862 Edwinstreet by H. S. Feavel.

Michael Wolter, one of the oldest residents of the city, died unexpectedly yesterday upon returning home from church.

Robert W. Scholl of this city and George Muehl of Seymour were successful in passing examinations for postoffice clerks. Frank O. Letts passed the test for mail carrier successfully.

Bernard Jacobs and John Melcher were elected by Sacred Heart congregation as delegates to the state convention at Foll du Lac.

Nicholas Bierstecker, a Little Chute lad of 16 years fell from a scaffold while at work at Kimberly-Clark Co. papermill at Kimberly and was rendered unconscious. He was not seriously hurt, however.

Farmers were grumbling over the amount of wages they had to pay hired help this year. It was impossible to get a reliable man for less than $22 a month which included board, lodging and washing.

TEN YEARS AGO.

Monday, April 3, 1915.

Jose Willard, Kansas cowboy, brought back to the white race, the world heavyweight championship when he knocked out Jack Johnson in the twenty-sixth round yesterday afternoon at Havana, Cuba.

Appleton women found Easter Sunday, which was the day previous, rather hard on their new millinery. Shortly before the dinner a drizzle started which kept up through the entire afternoon.

A marriage license was issued by county clerk Wolf to Chester Holmstrom of Appleton, and Sophia Zimmermann of Grand Chute.

With a lively race in progress for the office of city commissioner, the election on Tuesday was expected to bring out a record vote.

Mrs. Susie May Anderson, 34, died suddenly Saturday afternoon at her home at 1222 Eighth-st.

Foll du Lac high school won the state basketball championship in the closing contest of the tournament here Saturday, evening by defeating Green Bay, 44 to 15. Third place went to Menomonie.

A. A. Gritzmacher of the firm of Gritzmacher and Hedstrom bought out the interest of his partner, H. A. Hedstrom, in the barber shop.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. E. Thomas married Saturday night from a visit to Chicago.

ROLLO

Motorcars Are More Expensive Than Children

(From The Washington Herald.)
Is a baby, counting original cost, upkeep and accessories, cheaper than a motor car?
It's a question almost every family today has to face at some time or another. Those who can afford both without figuring a long time are few.

Here is the way one family, in moderate circumstances, yet able to afford a low-priced car as well as children, has found the bills for the two contrasted:

Dorothy Marie cost $325 during the first 18 months of her life. During the 18 months her father and mother have had a motor car it has cost them $1,308.50. Dorothy Marie has cost only a little over $400 more, $1,792 to be exact, during the entire seven years and six days of her life. The original cost of the car was, of course, far greater than the expense of bringing Dorothy Marie into the world. The car was bought for $887. Later a new set of tires cost $72. Gasoline and oil cost on an average of $4 a week, this owner finds. Repair bills and overhauling make up the rest of the $1,308.50.

When Dorothy Marie was born Jan. 14, 1918, her mother did not go to a hospital. The doctor's bill was only $25.

Two hundred dollars was all that was spent on her for the first year. That included the original $25. She had a baby carriage that cost $18 and a cot that cost $11. Most of the $200 went for clothing, for, her mother says, food for a baby of that age costs virtually nothing.

The next six months were more expensive, and because that was the time when it was most necessary to call in a doctor at intervals, the six months cost $125, and the entire second year $250. That was the average expense for each year until Dorothy Marie was 4 years old.

Since then she has been more expensive. As a school girl, she needs new clothes every spring and fall. Her mother makes them for her.

Recently she was wearing a dress that would have cost from $12 to $18 ready made. The mother says it cost about $4 to make. By having her clothes made at home, Dorothy Marie can be dressed and fed for $7 a week. That is virtually all it has cost her parents for the last three years.

War pensions now are costing Great Britain about $200,000,000 a year less than in 1920, because of the remarriages of war widows.

A French prisoner recently was allowed to leave jail to marry his fiancée, but he returned immediately after the ceremony.

To be qualified to serve on a jury in Great Britain, a woman must own a house valued at not less than $100 or live in one with not less than 15 windows.

HUMORISTS AND PHILOSOPHERS

The other night I listened to a professional humorist analyzing and anatomizing and psychologizing humor and he came to the conclusion that almost all come to who give the subject adequate thought—that humor is much more important in literature and life than it is generally supposed to be. The dullest dullard who never had a new thought since he was eight years old often gains a reputation for wisdom and as being a profound thinker if he is only pertentious enough and enunciates his platitudes with an air, while the keen rapier-like thrusts of the humorist, displaying deep wisdom of life, are regarded as the spoofing of a funny man, a trifle lighter perhaps than the antics of a clown in a circus.

A short time ago a novelist and editor and professor of English made the statement in a public address that humor is the one thing American literature needs to make it great literature. Very likely he was right. And contrary to popular belief humor is a hundred times harder to write than serious stuff. A book that is a genuine work of art and at the same time a genuine piece of humor is doubly great and there is much to be said for the contention of some that "Huckleberry Finn" is the greatest novel yet produced by an American.

NOT ALL HUMORISTS

Coming back to the speaker on the psychology of humor, he held that all the greatest humorists in literature have been great philosophers and deep thinkers too, but that unfortunately all the great philosophers have not been humorists. Shakespeare was a great humorist and also a deep thinker, so were Cervantes, Mark Twain, Charles Lamb—the list could be made a long one.

But although all great humorists may be philosophers it does not at all follow that all great humorists are great writers. A sense of humor alone is not enough to make great literature. A person can make a person a writer. Josh Billings, Artemus Ward, Bill N. Y. Nashby were all great humorists in their day, delighting the millions of whom Abraham Lincoln was one. But no one would care to contend today that they were great writers or even passably good writers. Their books are as dead today as a last year's newspaper. They were great in their time and they perished with their time. Why?

The reason is that they dealt in perishable material. Their humor was not distilled out of the deathless fables of human nature that are always the same. Aristophanes lived thousands of years ago but most of his humor is as fresh today as it was to the citizen of ancient Athens. There are links in human character that men have laughed at in all ages. The Civil War school of humorists for the most part handled things that were of their day only, like the news in a daily newspaper; it perished inevitably.

MADE WORK HUMAN

But the humorists who have created great literature were the ones who grounded their humor in human character. Falstaff would be funny in any age, in any land. He wears because he is not merely an artificial dummy who makes "funny cracks;" he is a genuine human being and so well had Shakespeare visualized him that on his deathbed he makes him "bubble of green field," a touch of matchless tenderness that makes the reader dissolve in tears right on the heels of gargantuan laughter.

It is not always remembered that, with all the great humorists whose humor was also literature, humor has been incidental, an element in character portrayal, not something produced for its own sake. Falstaff and Don Quixote seem humorous to the reader not because they say funny things but because they are inherently funny and the more adequately they are portrayed by their authors as genuine human beings the better they live in literature. In other words humor that lives in literature is not merely verbal; a humorist must be able to draw a character greatly or his humor is likely to perish.

This can best be illustrated by Shakespeare because he has done both. Falstaff will never die but there are whole pages of crisp and quick in Shakespeare, plays on words that are as dead today as Josh Billings. This of course is heresy to the academic mind but it is true. Many of the things that Shakespeare's court fools say are incomprehensible today, hence dead.

Here Are A Few Hats For Easter Parade

BY MARIAN HALE

New York—An ambition to get up higher in the world characterizes the Easter hat. Height is its distinguishing feature.

Only consistent plugging on the part of designers and milliners has been able to bring about this change and to arouse women from the simple little round, squatty hats that were popular so many seasons.

The very high, pointed crown that was launched last winter did not take well with the majority of women, so this season the height is achieved by means of trimming.

Feathers, pompons, flowers and bows extend high above the crown, but the crown itself is usually close fitting. Instead of being perfectly smooth and plain, it is frequently creased and folded—this without disturbing the line.

FELT AND STRAW

Naturally, the felt hat is the leader in small shapes, but its popularity is by no means undisputed. Straw is a close second, though straw rarely occurs without a combination.

Voltaire is used lavishly on bangkok and milan, the most popular straws. Grosgrain ribbon is liked for the tailored hat, and flowers, particularly the rose and violet, are seen in greater profusion than for many seasons. Feathers, too, including ostrich and coque as well as the stiffer types, are handled with great chic, and there are very clever imitations of the forbidden egret and egret.

WIDER BRIMS LATER

With the free use of trimming and the heightening of the general effect has come a mode that is much less severe and less routine than was possible before.

For early spring the small hat is choice of most women, but the hat with the very wide brim is scheduled for a later run. The large hat is usually cut off straight from the crown, but the sides are very wide and the front is medium. This is the line best suited to bobbed hair. Extremes of the very large and very small, there is practically nothing. The medium sized hat does not exist.

500 University Students Work On Student Magazines

Madison—Aside from their regular class work, students of the University of Wisconsin annually engage in a large industry involving the yearly turnover of approximately $80,000 and requiring the services of nearly 500 persons, annual reports of various student publications indicate.

"This student publishing industry is thought nothing of by the student body, but to the layman it represents a large figure," said Prof. G. M. Hyde of the school of journalism.

For the most part students working on publications receive no pay for their efforts except that the advertising and circulation solicitors may receive a small commission on the receipts they turn in. Aside from this, the only remuneration given is a comparatively small salary that is paid the editor and business manager of the larger publications.

All magazines and papers published by the students are operated on a strictly business organization and plan. Staffs are divided into business and editorial departments which are further subdivided as in any newspaper or magazine office.

Each publication is operated as a separate business entirely but each must make monthly financial reports and reports of staff members to the dean of men. Occasionally the reports show a deficit which is usually made up the succeeding month.

The smaller publications try to operate at little or no profit, while the larger ones have established sinking and surplus funds to provide for furnishing new equipment for their offices in the Union Memorial building, when it is built.

The official student newspaper, The Daily Cardinal, usually shows a profit at the end of the year of between three and five thousand dollars.

While the paper is edited and the business conducted entirely by students, the actual printing is done by one of the Madison newspapers. With the completion of the Union building, printing apparatus will be installed, and the actual publishing as well as the editing will be done by students. The yearly budget for The Cardinal amounts to nearly $30,000 and about 100 students are kept busy throughout the year in its publication.

The university yearbook, The Badger, employs about 150 students and operates on a budget of between $25,000 and $30,000. The editor is elected in the spring and as soon as school begins in the fall, he appoints his staff which is kept busy collecting material and data until the following spring when the book is issued.

More than 350 persons attended the program presented Sunday evening by the Junior League of Christ the Redeemer of Emmanuel Evangelical church. The program consisted of two short sketches, "The Story Teller" and "The Watch at the Tomb." Miss Marie Finger was in charge. Forty-five members of the league are planning to attend services in a body Easter Sunday.

BOLDT WILL SHOW HOW TO BUILD HOME

Contractor Will Show Every Important Angle of Building Work

Henry Boldt, Appleton builder, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Homebuilders Institute at 7:30 Monday evening at the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Boldt will speak on the actual construction of the house, pointing out the better methods of construction and mistakes to be avoided.

It is much easier to have everything in the plans and specifications than it is to make changes after the job is partly finished, according to Mr. Boldt, who will speak about "extras" and the correct way to handle building operations. The foundation, footings, drainage, side-walls, roof, interior partitions, plastering, floors, carpenter work and the correct way of putting up the interior finish and built-in features.

Another thing to be discussed is planning the work so that plumbers, electricians, tanners and other mechanics can get their work in. Mantles, chimneys and fireplaces and the best material for outside and inside chimneys will be thoroughly discussed as will building terms which are not easily understood by the unskilled person. These include headers, mullion casement or double hung windows, plasterers, range courses, sheathing, joists, girders, sub-floors, siding, base, bed mould, crown mould casing.

KAUKAUNA STOCK FAIR ASSOCIATION ELECTS MANAGER

Peter Knuth Placed in Charge of Arrangements for Monthly Fairs

Kaukauna—An enthusiastic meeting of the Kaukauna Pig Fair association was held Friday evening in Corcoran's hall on Third-st. All officers of the club were re-elected. They are Dr. W. C. Sullivan, president; John Schmidt, vice president; C. E. Feehan, secretary; Louis Schmidt, treasurer. The position of manager was created and Peter Knuth was elected. Mr. Knuth will be in charge at the fair grounds on stock days. His duty will be to promote relations between farmers and local businessmen.

Elaborate plans were made for the coming summer and every effort is being directed to make the monthly stock fairs even bigger business events for Kaukauna than they were last year. Although the organization now has one salaried officer, it was voted to decrease the membership fees. Last year merchants paid from $2 to $5 a month according to the benefits received from the fair. This year the rates will be considerably cheaper, it was announced.

Nothing of special nature is planned for April stock day which occurs next Saturday. As soon as the weather is warmer the club will begin to make every fair day a big day in the Electric City. There will be entertainment, bands, public speakers and bargains by local merchants will be provided continuously.

FUNERAL OF YOUNG WOMAN HELD AT WRIGHTSTOWN

Kaukauna—Funeral services for Miss Ethel VanderHelden, 18, who died Wednesday, were held at 9:30 Saturday morning at St. Paul church in Wrightstown. Mr. and Mrs. Henry VanderHelden, four brothers and four sisters. Bearers were Misses Agnes, Frances, Marie and Betty Biese, the latter of this city. Miss Ione McCabe and Eunice Sullivan, all members of the Young Ladies sodality of Sneiderville church.

Those from out of the village who attended the funeral were John Milton, Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. A. Holsten, Manitowish; Peter VanderHelden, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Fellows, Miss Timmers, Miss Langenberg, Green Bay; Mr. and Mrs. H. Van Den Heuvel, Mrs. Vanden Heuvel, Sr., De Pere, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Vander Helden, Seymour; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Van Vreede and family, Miss Violet Newhouse and Wesley Newhouse, Fremont; Mrs. Amynda and Roman Holtzschuh, Sheboygan; Mr. and Mrs. William Biese, John Flynn, Sr., Hugh and Francis Flatley, Mrs. D. Flannery, Thomas and James Flannery, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Wilpolt and daughter Leone from Hollandtown; Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Biese and family; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Milton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wagner, Mr. and Mrs. Roman Fagan, Mr. and Mrs. George Vander Helden, George VanderHelden, Jr., Herbert St. George, Mrs. Geneva Sullivan and daughter of Kaukauna.

21 NEW MEMBERS TAKEN INTO REFORMED CHURCH

Kaukauna—Twenty-one persons were received into membership in Reformed church Sunday morning during morning services. Eighteen young people composed the confirmation class and three were received by reconfirmation of faith. The three adults were Mr. and Mrs. Julius Konrad and Mrs. Anna Odell. Members of the confirmation class were Alice Weber, Alice and Blanche Jirkovic, Esther Buerth, Velma Roman, Claudine Foxgrover, Lucille Haase, Dorothy Dix, Lylah Alger, Carol Alger, Beatrice Tretin, Mildred Odell, Elmer Grimm, Clarence Grimm, Albert Miller and Howard Paschen. The confirmation service was given by the pastor the Rev. L. L. Wortman who spoke on the subject, "Behold Your King."

SKAT TOURNAMENT

Kaukauna—Five tables were in play at an open skat tournament conducted Sunday afternoon at William Jirkovic's place on Democracy-st. Prizes were won by George Giesbers, John Leick, Andrew Eppinger and Emil Leick.

KAUKAUNA PERSONALS

Kaukauna—W. P. Hagman and J. J. Hagman were in Wrightstown Saturday evening where they acted as judges in an oratorical and declamatory contest. Carl Eklund, Sr., of Salt Lake City, is visiting at the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. Borchardt. Mrs. F. T. Wikkers and Mrs. R. Borchardt attended the funeral of Mrs. Benning at Fond du Lac Thursday.

Elmer Ott was taken to the hospital Saturday morning for an operation for appendicitis. Big Opening Dance, Valley Queen, 12 Corners, Mon., Apr. 13. $500.00 decorations. Music, Meltz Bros. Harmonist Orchestra. Special parking system. Follow the crowd. Busses leaving Appleton Bus Depot at 8:30.

FORESTER BOWLERS GET IN PRIZE LIST

Minkebige and Haessly Take First Place in Doubles
in Oshkosh

Kaukauna—Five bowling teams from this city finished up the state Forester bowling tournament in Oshkosh in great style Sunday afternoon and evening. Hank's five rolled into second place in team events. Minkebige and Haessly went into first place in the doubles by a margin of one pin. E. Brewster tops the list in singles and A. Jones landed in fourth place in the single events. In addition to the cash awards the bowlers received a large number of merchandise premiums.

Following is the score rolled by Hank's five which put the team in second place:

E. Brewster 156, 195, 188, 539; R. J. Van Ellis 213, 178, 188, 559; Arthur Jones 150, 153, 145, 458; H. O. Haessly 182, 161, 161, 504; Minkebige 206, 150, 202, 558, total 2,615.

In doubles Minkebige and Haessly rolled a total of 1,312, displacing the leaders by only one pin. In the first game each man rolled 211. In the second game Minkebige rolled 238, the highest single score registered in the double contests. Other doubles scores were Brewster and Haessly 1,000; Van Ellis and Runte, 1,000; C. Runte and O. Runte, 923; Kuchelmeister and Smith 603; Jones and Bloch, 525; Weyenberg and Pendergast, 639; Drawenek and O'Connor 785; Heindel and Pendergast, 515.

In the single events Eathan Brewster scored first place by rolling a score of 662. Arthur Jones hit the maples for a count of 604 and garnered fourth money. Singles for the Kaukauna men were as follows:

G. Pendergast 352; J. Drawenek 543; J. O'Connor 471; A. Heindel 516; W. Williquette, 308; E. Maue 493; H. Smith 288; Van Ellis 509; H. O. Haessly 493; H. Minkebige 490; C. Runte 575; O. Runte 493; J. Kuchelmeister 465; H. T. Runte 421; D. Pendergast, 260.

EARLY WEYAUWEGA HOME BURNS DOWN

Fire Department Gets Three Alarms After Idleness Since Sometime in Fall..

Weyauwega—One of Waupeca county's old landmarks, the home of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Balch, now owned by Charles Peterson and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. William McMahon and family, burned to the ground Thursday about midnight. The renters had had a bonfire in the evening and had extinguished it before retiring, so the source of the fire is unknown. A large crowd turned out to help the firemen but all efforts were in vain. They succeeded, however, in saving the most of the McMahon furniture. Mrs. McMahon's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Burnham, whose room was on the second floor, lost all her clothing and a large number of her hand paintings and manuscripts. She is a writer.

Mr. Peterson carries insurance on the building but not nearly enough to cover his loss.

The McMahon family is moving its furniture into the Charles Mitchell place on Waupeca-rd.

The residence was built some three score years ago and at that time the owners thought the road running by the house would be Main-st of Weyauwega.

The fire department was called to Gill's Landing at 3 o'clock Thursday evening when a grass fire on the marsh got out of control and was making its way toward the cottages. The fire was soon brought under control.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ankdam spent Friday at Wautoma.

The American Legion auxiliary is presenting a novel entertainment for the evening of April 17. The various groups are practicing vaudeville acts and the legion will put on a farce comedy. The different committees are hard at work.

Camp fire girls met Wednesday evening at the village hall and officers were elected for the ensuing year. Miss Dorothy Olson was elected president; Violet Larkine, vice president; Florence Peters, secretary; Bernice Bratz, treasurer. Mrs. Russell Williams was re-elected guardian.

Kensington club gave Mrs. Stuart Jones a pleasant surprise Wednesday evening at a fancy and comic dress party at her home. Guests met at the home of Mrs. F. W. Bauer and marched over to the Jones home as a wedding procession, with minister, bride, bridegroom, and guests.

Mrs. John Richter entertained the Ladies Aid society of St. Peter Lutheran church Thursday afternoon.

Sam Sulzman has a few sprigs of apple tree in his store window, in full bloom.

The fire department was called out to a fire at the home of Frank Kellert at about 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Kellert was burning leaves when the porch at the rear of the house caught fire. The alarm was sent in but the bell would not ring so the neighbors went over and put the blaze out before the fire department arrived. That was the first fire alarm sent in since last fall.

The last of the ice in Weyauwega lake disappeared late Thursday.

VOTERS APATHETIC OVER NEW LONDON SPRING ELECTION

Contest for School Superintendent, However, Will Be Close and Exciting

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—The annual spring election in this city will be held on April 7. Although two wards are having a stiff fight over the aldermanship and the battle royal is seen for the county in the race for county superintendent of schools, little interest is being shown in the city over the outcome. It is expected however, the Third and Fourth wards will turn out a large vote.

The officers to be decided upon are as follows:

First ward—like Poepeke, up for reelection as county supervisor in Waupaca; and Mrs. F. J. Pfeiffer, up for reelection as school commissioner.

Second ward—Matt Clark, up for reelection as alderman; F. A. Archibald, up for reelection as county supervisor in Waupaca.

Third ward—H. T. Knapstein, up for reelection as alderman; Charles Haase, for alderman; Edward Becker, for alderman; J. F. Croak up for reelection as school commissioner; H. Fuerst, up for reelection as supervisor in Outagamieco.

Fourth ward—August Meinhart, up for reelection as alderman; Otto Stern, for alderman; A. Rumenoff, up for reelection as supervisor in Waupaca.

Fifth ward—Jacob Werner, up for reelection as supervisor in Waupaca; A. O. Zerrinner, up for reelection as school commissioner.

In the city school, F. A. Archibald and Harlowe Millard are running for the office of police justice.

In Waupaca-co Francis M. Higgins of Royalton, is opposing O. K. Eversen of Waupaca, for superintendent of schools.

Local representatives will attend a meeting in Waupaca, to be held this week, in the hope of organizing a league.

NEW LONDON PERSONALS

New London—Miss Lillian Middleton of Manawa, visited at the Otto Fehrman home the latter part of the week.

John Holmes has returned to Lawrence college, he having spent the Easter vacation at his home here.

Velma and Vaughn Kroll were home from Lawrence college for the Easter recess.

Mr. and Mrs. George Thomas had dinner with Appleton relatives Saturday evening.

R. J. McMahon spent Saturday in Green Bay.

George Hendricks, of Minneapolis, is spending a few days in this city.

FIRE CHIEF WILL RESIGN JOB AS DRIVER BY MAY 1

New London—L. A. Ziebell will resign one of his positions, that of driver, on May 1. Mr. Ziebell is now both driver and chief, and after the new garage, belonging to the New London Motor Sales Co., has been erected, he will no longer be able to find time for the position, as he is a member of the above firm.

He will, however, retain his position as fire chief. He will probably move from the rooms above the city hall, leaving them to be occupied by the new driver, by May 1.

John Riecke, who has substituted for Mr. Ziebell on different occasions, is a candidate for the position of driver, which will be appointed by the city council.

PLAN CELEBRATION OF REV. KOLBE'S JUBILEE

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—The Sisters of St. Agnes are planning a big entertainment to be given at the Grand theatre some time in May. The event will be in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of Rev. Fr. Kolbe's ordination to the priesthood.

which is about a week earlier than last year.

Pike are biting in Wolf river and fishermen for miles around are making daily trips to Gill's landing where the limit has been brought home by many of them.

OLD SETTLERS ARE MARRIED 50 YEARS

Death in Family Causes Mr. and Mrs. G. Freiburger to Waive Golden Wedding

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Sunday, April 5, marked the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. George Freiburger of this city.

On account of the recent death of Mr. Freiburger's brother, August Freiburger, the event was not celebrated but Mr. and Mrs. Freiburger received the congratulations of many friends and relatives during the day.

The couple are among the earliest settlers of New London having lived 48 of their 50 years of married life in one home on the corner of Cook and Wyman-sts. Two years ago they built a new modern home on Lawrence-st, the former site of Mrs. Freiburger's girlhood home.

Mr. and Mrs. Freiburger have four living children, John of Milwaukee, Vincent and Harold of New London and Mrs. Phil Wilson of Northport. They have 23 grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Both are enjoying excellent health.

CITY BASEBALL TEAM HAS FIRST PRACTICE

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—The New London city baseball team held its first practice in the municipal park on Sunday afternoon. Although only a few candidates showed up, things look promising for the first session, and the team will be rolling along in great shape before long.

Local representatives will attend a meeting in Waupaca, to be held this week, in the hope of organizing a league.

CAR IS STOLEN WHILE OWNER ATTENDS CHURCH

New London—A Cadillac coupe, belonging to A. O. Zerrinner, was stolen shortly before 9 o'clock on Sunday evening, in this city. The car had been parked near the Congregational church by Mr. Zerrinner, while he was attending the community services. When he came out, it had disappeared.

The car is said to have had 28 gallons of gasoline in it when it disappeared. Neighboring police stations were notified, and a complete description of the car given.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ANSWERS 4 CALLS

New London—The local fire department made four runs during the week-end.

The first was made at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, to the Cochran residence on Wyman-st. The roof had caught fire and it was necessary to connect the water hose and cut out half of the roof to extinguish the blaze. Damage was estimated at about $600.

The second was made at 8 o'clock Saturday evening, to the C. Selma residence, on Hancock-st. Here again the roof was on fire, having caught from a spark from the chimney. A hole was burnt through the roof, causing about $25 worth of damage before the fire could be put out.

The third call occurred at 8 o'clock on Sunday morning, when a run was made to the S. Marsh residence, on Beacon-ave, where a chimney fire was in progress. No damage occurred.

The last run was made at 10 o'clock Sunday evening, to the Crane home in North Water-st. There was no fire at all, somebody having suspected they saw one in a pile of wood.

WAUPACA-CO WILL VOTE ON REVIVAL OF COUNTY AGENT

Referendum on Purchase of Fire Equipment Also Will Appear on Tuesday Ballot

Special to Post-Crescent
Waupaca—The city ballot at the election Tuesday will be as follows: Alderman, First ward, F. A. Christensen, supervisor, Page Knight; justice of peace, M. L. Scott; alderman, Second ward, L. J. Arters and S. P. Godfrey; supervisor, John Holm and N. P. Peterson; alderman Third ward, Charles W. Nelson, supervisor, Fred W. Rosche; alderman Fourth ward, Con Gmelner, supervisor, F. R. Fish-cr.

The special referendum ballot for city voters will read as follows: "Resolved by the common council of the city of Waupaca, that the city of Waupaca purchase an auto fire truck, consisting of at least a chassis, water pump, chemical pump and chemical hose at a cost not exceeding the sum of $5,000."

In the county the name of Judge William Martin will appear alone for reelection. For county superintendent of schools the names of O. J. Evensen and Francis M. Higgins appear.

A referendum on the county ballot will surprise many voters for very little has been said or done about it. The question reads as follows: "Shall the county board reestablish the office of county agricultural representative, known as county agent?"

The only noticeable contest will come in the Second ward of the city and in the vote for county superintendent of schools, throughout the county.

A report given out at the sheriff's office Friday morning caused some excitement when it was announced that the State bank at Big Falls had been robbed and the safe cracked. However, the facts are that Wall Spaulding Lumber Co. office had been looted but nothing taken. The village blacksmith shop and a garage also were entered and in all only $5 was taken. The same night a drug store at Marion also was robbed. The loot was $24. It is thought the same persons did the job at both places.

Sheriff William Toepke and Under Sheriff Halbert Swenson went over the situation carefully and it is expected the arrest of the guilty persons will result within a few days.

STAGE AND SCREEN

PUNCH SCENES IN 'COMING THROUGH'

Where you find Meighan you generally find action.

Such is the case, anyway, with "Coming Through," the star's latest Paramount production, coming next Tuesday to the Appleton Theatre for a run of 3 days.

Pell-mell action and real thrills is the order of things from start to finish.

"Coming Through" is a story of coal mining and coal miners, adapted to the screen by Paul Schofield from the novel by Jack Betha's popular novel, "Red Rock." Lila Lee is featured in the leading woman's role. Wallace Beery heads the supporting cast which also includes such prominent stage and screen players as John Milner, Frank Campeau and Laurence Wheat.

Tom's role is that of Tom Blackford employed with a big steel corporation. He is shipped off to the company's mines at Colton, just outside of Birmingham, as superintendent. Here the real action starts.

The big punch scenes in the picture include a hand-to-hand fight between Meighan and Beery on a skeleton framework about sixty feet above ground. Beery is bested and takes a "header" to a rock below. You've seen screen fights before, to be sure, but never anything that quite comes up to this.

Another breath-taker is the scene where one of the "trips," a coal car, breaks away and goes hurtling down through the mine at terrifying speed. Tom turns a switch in the nick of time, sending the car crashing into the framework of the mine and bringing down a shower of dirt and rocks from overhead but saving the lives of many of the miners. Here's the kick in the picture.

denison Clift, who worked from his own screen adaptation. In the supporting cast are beautiful Claire Adams, as the American girl; Sheldon Lewis, as the King; Diana Miller, Fred Hecker and a number of other screen luminaries.

WELL KNOWN ACTORS IN COMING UNIVERSAL
"The Price of Pleasure," written especially for screen production by Elizabeth Holding and Marion Orth, who have written some outstanding screen successes, is Virginia Valli and Norman Kerry's next vehicle. It has its first local showing at the Elite Theatre. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The supporting cast contains some of the best known names in screen-land, among them being Louise Fazenda, Kate Lester, George Fawcett, T. Roy Barnes, James O. Barrows and Marie Astaire. It was directed by Edward Sloan.

Miss Valli has the part of a shop girl whose greatest desire is for "Just one good time for a full week." Several scenes of the picture are devoted to making realistic the life led by those thousands of young women, who, without family ties, struggle to maintain themselves in decency as shop girls in big department stores in big cities, finding their social pleasures in the restricted activities of a tenement boarding house.

Some of the scenes of "The Price of Pleasure" were taken in a real department store on a day when there was a big bargain sale, with Miss Valli and others of the cast acting as saleswomen and waiting on real customers.

Into the life of this wishful young woman came romance in the form of a man clad as a mechanic, but who turned out to be the son of a rich, aristocratic woman. For a time the young woman's desire for a good time is realized and then comes the awakening.

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F.M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system. If you have a pale face, yellow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results. Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for "alone"—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c. adv.

SNAPPY COSTUMES AND PRETTY SONGS IN HAREFOOT PLAY

"Ivan Ho!" Upholds Reputation of University of Wisconsin sin Players

Upholding its reputation for gorgeous scenery, colorful costumes, snappy songs and "beautiful women" the Harefoot club of the University of Wisconsin presented "Ivan Ho!" its twenty-seventh annual production, at Appleton theater Saturday night. A capacity house witnessed the play and applauded the efforts of university men to play the parts of women.

"Ivan Ho!" was an interesting fantasy presented in a splendid manner but it was hardly as spectacular or as colorful as "Twinkle Twinkle." last year's Harefoot production. There was a good deal of delicious humor in the play and the modern slang in the atmosphere of Cedric Richard the Lion Hearted put a grotesque touch to the whole performance.

The feature of all Harefoot plays of recent years of course is the "male chorus girls" and this year's production was fully as good as any seen here. No doubt there were girls in the audience who secretly wished they might be as attractive as the young men appeared in their wigs and dresses.

Byron Rivers, as "Rowena," is a finished actor. If he could or would disguise his voice he would pass for an unusually attractive young woman anywhere. While he is not in the least effeminate in ordinary life, he can imitate the arts and graces of women with such skill that even the most careful observers of femininity might be deceived.

One of the most difficult roles in the production was taken by Arthur Nickels as Applestein. His makeup was excellent and his voice and acting compared with the best of the profession. William Ross, as Wamba, the jester, showed that he has a pleasing voice and has splendid acting ability. Ross might do well on the professional stage if he desired to make that his work.

An interesting part of the evening's entertainment was the concert by the Harefoot recording orchestra which was played between the first and second acts. The young musicians played the jazziest kind of jazz in a manner as any one could wish and their efforts were thoroughly appreciated.

SHOW HOSPITAL AT U. W. EXPOSITION

A cross-section of a whole hospital will be shown at the edical booth of the University of Wisconsin exposition, which will be held in Madison April 15 to 18.

Everything in the large central booth, occupied by the medical department, is painted white, even the tables and shelves on which the exhibits are placed.

"We want to carry out the idea of the actual work in a hospital as much as possible," said Paul Eschweiler, '25, general chairman of the booth. "It is impossible to give a complete exhibition in such a small space, of course, and so we are having four trips every day to the new State General Hospital, where second-year medical students conduct the inspection tours and explain the things to be seen there. These tours started from the exposition at the gymnasium."

An X-ray machine by which any one can see the bones in his hands is the chief attraction in the hospital unit. It works very simply. You just put a cap-like thing on your head, hold your hand in front of the X-ray tube, and you can see all the bones in your hand. Besides X-ray pictures which show fractures and the various types of splints used in setting fractures, two specialists, Dr. Goenslen from Milwaukee and Dr. G. L. V. Brown, have models of breaks which they will explain to the spectators.

SHEBOYGAN SCHOOL HAS NEW FEATURE

Herbert Hellig, director of the Appleton vocational school, attended a meeting of vocational school directors at Sheboygan Friday. Directors from Fond du Lac, Green Bay, Oshkosh, Manitowish and other cities were present. They inspected the Sheboygan vocational school which is located in the same building as the senior high school.

The visiting directors discussed the problem of securing better cooperation between the two branches in the Sheboygan high school and attempted to aid O. H. Johnson, vocational director, to attain this end. Mr. Hellig said the Sheboygan school has an interesting and novel department that found great favor with the visiting schoolmen. This is a period during which pupils are allowed to visit any class they desire, whether it be music, public speaking, manual training or any of the other subjects taught in the school. The next meeting of the directors will be held at Manitowish about May 1.

DEMAND FOR BLOCKS INDICATES BUILDING BOOM

Building in Appleton is due for a boom this spring, according to indications at the Guenther Cement block factory here. Orders for plain blocks, corner blocks and cornices are pouring in faster than they can be filled, according to workmen there, and the plant is kept busy overtime trying to keep up with the rush of business. The greatest demand appears to be for the plain blocks used in building foundations, which have replaced stone almost entirely.

Judge Spencer Spent $0.00 For Election

Judge A. M. Spencer, candidate for reelection as municipal judge, had no election expenses, according to the election expense accounts filed with John E. Hantschel, clerk of courts. Judge Spencer has no opposition. His statement was filed Saturday. A. G. Menting, candidate for reelection as county superintendent of schools, also without opposition, turned in a report of 80 cents expenses on Wednesday. Judge Fred V. Heinemann, candidate for reelection as county judge, had an expense account of $239.33, which was reported on Saturday. His opponent for the office, Attorney F. J. Rooney, filed an account of $60.15 on Friday.

TWO BISHOPS ON PROGRAM FOR M. E. SUMMER CAMP

Appleton Methodists are laying plans for attending the annual camp meeting to be held at Byron July 2 to 12. Noted churchmen of the country have places on the program. Among them are two Methodist bishops, Charles Edward Locke and Ernest L. Waldorf. The complete program will be announced within a few weeks. The Rev. W. P. Leek, superintendent of the Fond du Lac district will be chairman of the summer conference. Features of the camp will be institutes for pastors and Epworth league members.

The development of style and beauty in home building in this country has been so rapid and so effective that it has tended sometimes to obscure other factors of value.

In the constructional features of dwellings also there have been of late remarkable improvements—in fact, the first real structural improvements in 30 years of home building.

Every man who is planning to buy or build a home should know about these structural improvements. Not only do they benefit him in comfort and economy—but they add materially to the resale value of his property.

Just what does "modern" mean when you speak of a House or an Apartment Building?

DURING the past five or ten years, this word "modern" as applied to dwelling quarters has taken on a new and much deeper meaning.

And this meaning is the direct outcome of a scientific inquiry as to the cause of defective heating of houses, and of interior noises in duplex houses and apartment buildings.

Along with this inquiry went also investigation into the possibilities of curing these two difficulties.

With such practical results that no house today can be considered "modern" unless it is a fuel-saving house.

And no apartment can be considered "modern" unless it insures each tenant immunity from noises arising in the other apartments of the building.

IF a house is hard to heat, practically always there is excessive heat leakage out through the walls of the house and through the roof.

If an apartment is noisy, practically always it is because the partitions and floors transmit the noises from one apartment into another.

The cure in each case is exactly the same.

For Heat Saving, a blanket of Heat Insulation inside the walls of a house and under its roof.

For Noise Insulation, a blanket of the same material in the floors and partition walls.

And right here let us say that this has proved not only efficient but very inexpensive. To heat insulate a typical house of 7 or 8 rooms costs only a small amount. And this is repaid in the first three or four years in the saving of coal.

For a proportionately small investment an apartment building can be both sound insulated and heat insulated as well. The fuel savings in this case also in a very short time will pay for both.

There is nothing complicated about it. It doesn't involve any essential change in the building plans. Balsam-Wool Heat Insulation is a blanket of fluffy new wood fibres which prevents heat from passing through the wall and roof.

And this same Balsam-Wool blanket between the ceiling and floor also absorbs and stops the transmission of sound.

As to the fuel saving, scientific tests were conducted with three different types of house—

Brick house with slate roof.

The heat savings averaged from one-third to nearly one-half.

And as to sound insulation, it was found that practically every noise was either stopped entirely, or so muffled that it made no impression on the ear.

IN thousands of instances the building contractor has found the strongest selling argument for a house is the simple statement, "This house is Heat Insulated."

He tells the prospective purchaser with entire confidence: "You will save from one-quarter to one-third your coal. You will not have to attend to your furnace so often. You will get all the heat there is in the coal. You will have no cold rooms—no draughty corners or floors. Your family will be happier, healthier—warmer in winter and cooler in summer."

The apartment owner can find no stronger selling argument to a tenant than the simple statement: "This apartment is Heat Insulated and Sound Deadened. You will always be warm in winter—you will always be cool in summer. You will have no noise from the other tenants in the building. In short, you will have as much privacy here in this apartment as though you were living in a home of your own."

WHEN you come to consider grades of Heat and Sound Insulation, you will find that Balsam-Wool is preferred by builders who demand maximum efficiency at minimum cost.

It may be questioned if any detail of house and apartment building offers such a sure return for the money invested as Heat and Sound Insulation properly installed.

RIPARIANS DEMAND SURVEY OF ROUTE FOR CANAL

SEND DELEGATION TO HEARING WITH U. S. ENGINEERS

Land-owners Determined to Fight to Save Their Property from Floods

Riparian owners, at a meeting of the Association for Relief of High Water in New London Saturday afternoon, started a campaign to raise $400 to send a delegation to Washington, D. C. to attend a hearing with federal engineers on the proposal to survey the territory between Shiloh and Duck Creek through which it is proposed to dig a canal to carry off high water from the Fox and Wolf rivers. Letters will be sent to members of the association asking them to contribute to the fund. It was explained that the association has $600 in its treasury but this money will be required to send another delegation to Washington to work for passage of a law which would recompense property owners for losses suffered because of floods in this territory.

It was proposed that the delegation to Washington consist of Alan H. Tripp, Oshkosh, president of the association, Engineer Dodge of Madison and possibly the mayors of New London, Fond du Lac and a delegate from Shiloh.

M. Tripp, who presided at the meeting, outlined the work of the association thus far and expressed the determination of riparians not to give up the fight for the Shiloh canal just because engineers had made an adverse report on the plan.

ASKED $25,000. "Two years ago," said Mr. Tripp, "we asked the United States government to give us $25,000 to make the survey. Representative Schneider put our appropriation on the rivers and harbors bill, and it went through. Because the money was to come through the war department, we could not obtain it until we had been given a hearing before the board of federal engineers, and had shown that our plan was practical. At first all of the engineers seemed in favor of the bill, but a meeting of the federal engineers seemed in favor of the bill, but at a meeting of the federal engineers last June, they suddenly decided that it would cost too much to build the canal. The state engineers said that the canal would cost $1,000,000 without bridges. The Federal Engineers said that it would cost $10,000,000. After much dickering around, we demanded that a survey of the territory be made by federal engineers. This they agreed to do. The survey has never been made. For unexplained reasons at trying to get it. We were told to 'go back and sit down.' We have not gone back and 'sat down,' and we are not going to. We demanded a hearing at Washington, and were given a time limit in which to send a delegation to Washington. In order to determine who to send, we have called this meeting. We have been granted an extension of sixty days for the hearing until May 1st.

RIGHTS DISREGARDED This association contends that the engineers' statement that the canal would cost more than the benefits derived would offset, is wrong. The cost and size of this canal can not possibly be estimated until a survey has been agreed. As the Wolf and Fox rivers are navigable rivers, and under government control, it is no more than right that the government should protect the people who are living near them. There are 1,500 property-owners along these rivers who are not benefiting from their constitutional rights because they are not protected from floods which cause thousands of dollars worth of damage each year.

Mayor E. W. Wendlandt, of New London, was the first to speak. "I can truthfully say that the city of New London demands that a survey be made. The last flood cost this city between $5,000 and $15,000, not to mention the enormous expense which the individual property owners were put to in making repairs to damaged property."

"In one flood, during which most of our city was under water for 24 hours, one man was drowned when he stepped off his porch," said Mayor R. D. Haentze, of Fond du Lac, who is secretary of the association. A so-called tidal wave in Lake Winnebago in 1921 cost the city one-half million dollars. The lower part of the city was under water for four weeks, and the loss to property owners was tremendous. I express the sentiments of the entire city when I say that we are heartily in favor of anything that can be done to relieve the high-water situation."

Sheldon Brail, a veteran of the civil war, and who has long been a resident of this section, was the next to speak.

CANAL IS KEY "We must have the water off our land, so that we can get busy and grow something. The canal is the only key to the situation. I said that fifteen years ago, and I still say it."

At the request of Mr. Tripp, Governor Blaine sent a representative, Professor Jones of Madison, to the meeting. Prof. Jones has studied practically all the rivers in the state, and is considered an authority on riparian conditions.

"I am very much disappointed that the survey has not been made," Mr. Jones said. I am in no position to make a close estimate of the cost of a canal at the end of the century. If the government will make a survey, then I can give you an estimate of what it will cost. Some years ago, I made a rough estimate that it would cost approximately $2,000,000. It is a tremendous undertaking, but it is entirely

FIRES IN RUBBISH GIVE UNPLEASANT TASK TO FIREMEN

Eight Alarms, One from Black Creek, Kept Department Busy Over Sunday

Appleton fire department was called out eight times over Sunday because of the spring drought which makes grass and rubbish fires break out easily. Very little damage was done but firemen had some hard and disagreeable work to do.

An alarm at 12:10 Saturday noon called the department to 1225 S. Broadway to put out a grass fire. One occurred at 2:05 in the afternoon at 1600 W. Lawrence-st. and another at 3 o'clock on South Law-st.

One hose company was summoned to the dumping ground on W. Water-st. beyond the gas plant at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon and a similar alarm was answered at noon Sunday.

The rubbish there had become ignited and the firemen worked at least three hours each time to put out the fire. There was no danger to buildings or property but the oily rags, dead fish taken from power flumes and other debris created fumes and smoke and stench that residents of the nearby locality were unable to stand the nausea. The work was disagreeable as it was necessary for the firemen to dig out the refuse in order to reach the flames and pour water on them. Clothing and shoes were ruined while this was being done.

A call for help also came from Black Creek Saturday afternoon. Fire broke out in an icedhouse there and the village department was unable to start the motor of its own pump. One motor pump truck was dispatched from Appleton but by the time it arrived the engine had been started and the firemen had the blaze under control.

Sunday's alarms included one at 7:30 in the morning to the T. R. Hay-ton home, 292 N. Union-st. Sparks from the chimney ignited a roof, causing slight damage. Grass at the baseball park caught fire about 4:45 in the afternoon and set the fence ablaze. Part of the boards was burned away before the fire could be checked.

Harry F. Schlafer, treasurer of the Acme Tag Co. of Minneapolis, spent the weekend in Appleton visiting relatives and attending to business matters here.

possible that it could be made for less money than has been claimed. "This canal will benefit about 200,000 acres of land. At first, when the $2,000,000 estimate was made, there was no way of raising the property owners who could be benefited by it. This could not be done, as the tax required would be too great."

Here he was asked, by Mr. Tripp, "What would you think of us building it ourselves, in case the government refuses to do so?"

"If you could raise $2,000,000, I would recommend the building of dykes along the rivers and creeks, instead of digging the canal. This would be cheaper, and would take the water down to Lake Winnebago, where you could let the power companies worry about it. This would, on the other hand, make matters worse for the city of Fond du Lac. I am sure that the only way to go ahead is to have the survey made."

Property owners along the two rivers were called upon to state their opinions. They were unanimously in favor of the drainage canal. Each one said conditions in the flood district were becoming worse each year. Several who lived along the Wolf river stated that conditions were so unbearable that men were leaving their farms.

All were opposed to the proposition of dyking the rivers. Those from Shiloh told how a dyke had been constructed there, and of how it had failed, because it could not be kept in repair, and how it had been abandoned altogether.

It was also stated by the several speakers that the yearly over-flooding of the Wolf River was causing it to fill up with mud and dirt, which, settling on the bottom, caused the river to raise just that much higher the next year.

President Tripp, in his closing address to the meeting, issued a formal challenge to government officials. "It has been said," declares Mr. Tripp, "by the government and was department, that in 1856 they paid $600,000 to property owners for flow-age damage. I am here to challenge the government or any one else to show where that money went."

The following resolution was adopted at the end of the meeting: "Be it Resolved, That we are in favor of demanding that a survey be made, and of the appointing of a delegation to be sent to Washington, to argue the matter with the engineers of harbors and rivers."

Now Haskin Helps Readers Work Out Puzzle Contests

Frederic J. Haskin, director of the Post-Crescent Information bureau, has helped many a reader out of a difficulty now seems to be filling a new role, that of helping persons work out prize puzzle contests. Since Mr. Haskin's answers to puzzling questions cost only 2 cents a letter, a prize so won might be considered achieved very cheaply.

A presidents picture puzzle contest that ran in a Chicago newspaper for ten weeks puzzled an Appleton man who stumbled on the point of date and place where George Washington was inaugurated the first time. The ready answer was April 30, 1789, at New York.

Whether a disciple or an enemy of Robert Ingersoll, the noted infidel, a reader wanted "authentic and unbiased information" as to whether Col. Ingersoll turned Christian before he died. Consulting all the biographers, Mr. Haskin replied that the atheist did not accept the Christian faith.

Another man who apparently wanted the human encyclopedia to work for him money propounded three questions: Where to get a street map of Chicago, the date and place of the next world fair and the wage scale of building trades in New York. All the information was supplied, announcement being made of the world fair at Philadelphia next year and the 33¢ cents an hour wage in New York.

Other requests for information were answered or where information was too exhaustive to put in a letter, the inquirer was referred to other sources.

During the week ending March 26, Mr. Haskin received 44 letters from readers of the Post-Crescent. Of this number many contained coupons for booklets as follows: Constitution 1, Etiquette 2, Food of Children 2, Home Conveniences 1, Housecleaning 3, Housewives 2, Laundry 1, Map of Washington 5, Meat 1, One Thousand 2, Rats 1, Recipes 1, School Lunches 2, Sewing 1, Status 4, United States maps 6, Word books 1.

43 TAKE CONFIRMATION VOWS AT ST. PAUL CHURCH

St. Paul Lutheran church was crowded at the services Sunday morning when confirmation of 43 children took place. The auditorium was beautifully decorated with flowers and palms and the choir gave special music for the occasion.

The English class of 30 members was confirmed by the Rev. Fred Brandt at the service at 9 o'clock. The German class was confirmed by the Rev. T. J. Sauer at the service at 10:15.

"Y" Boys on Hill Arthur Tuttle and Phillip Mitchell, Lawrence college students, were in charge of the boy's division of the Y. M. C. A. Saturday. The boys left the "Y" at 1:30, returning at 5:30. Fifteen boys hiked to Lake Winnebago and Lemmings Creek, enjoying the "winter roast" enroute.

Defer Scout Meeting Valley council, Boy Scouts of America, will not meet Monday evening as planned. The meeting has been deferred to some day next week by request of the Rev. F. J. Schreckenberg, president of the council. The exact date will be announced later.

EASTER FESTIVAL RESERVED SEATS IN BRISK DEMAND

Annual Musical Presentation Has Masterly Finish Resulting from Rehearsals

There was a brisk demand when the seat sale opened Monday morning at the selling drug store for tickets for Appleton's annual Easter musical festival under auspices of combined churches of the city.

Seats are being reserved for the Monday night program at Lawrence Memorial chapel by those who want to avoid the crowds of Sunday night and listen to the great choral presentation without any accompanying confusion. The performance Easter Sunday night is free to the Appleton public. Thus nobody is prevented from enjoying the program used by the churches to develop the Easter spirit. All who desire to attend Monday night have been asked by the churches to obtain their seats before Thursday.

This year's program has as its outstanding feature Joseph Haydn's great oratorio, "The Creation." Music will be provided by an orchestra of 25 pieces under direction of Prof.

Percy Fullinwider of Lawrence Conservatory of Music. An added treat for Monday night only is two numbers by orchestra only, "Egmont Overture" (Beethoven) and "Peer Gynt" suite (Grieg).

Rehearsals since New Years have given a finish to the work of the chorus of 250 voices led by Carl J. Waterman, dean of the conservatory. The singers include the Schola Cantorum of Lawrence college and the best voices from the church choirs. Assisting soloists are: Helen Pouts (soprano), Chicago; B. Fred (tenor), Chicago; John T. Read, lawa, Chicago. The accompanists will be Miss Irma Sherman and LaVahn. Maesch.

Mrs. M. Ginnor, Mackville, is spending a week in Green Bay, visiting friends.

Simple Mixture for Gas on Stomach

Simple buckthorn bark, magnesium sulph. c. p., glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adierika, helps any case gas on the stomach, unless due to deep-seated causes. The pleasant and QUICK action will surprise you. Because Adierika is such an excellent intestinal evacuant it is wonderful for constipation—it often works in one hour and never grines. A PAGE OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

RECIPES

Problem Of Draperies Is Not Easy One

The question of draperies and hangings is one which appeals to the average housewife more than any other decorative accessory of the home. Nor is this unreasonable, since more than any other thing they add to its appearance; as witness the room made ready for the winter, its bare summer windows replaced by draped openings, in contrast with the summer apartment when heavy hangings suited to colder seasons have been removed. And now that Dame Fashion's edict has gone forth that, like other decorations of to-day, draperies must be plain, every woman may indulge her tastes in that respect in proportion to the cleverness of her own fingers without having recourse to the skill of the upholsterer.

Glass-curtains, first of all, may be of scrim, marquisette, dress voile or any other thin material, of which gauze is perhaps the newest; the heavier materials being better suited to city use, since they provide real protection from without. They may be in white or color, and some decorators are using two thicknesses of material of different hues, through which the light filters with iridescent and delightful effect. Of course when glass-curtains are hung between window-shades and street these must be uniform, or at least nearly so, throughout the house, but the pretty fashion of "dressing up" the exterior of the home in this way is fast passing with the city private houses. Most glass curtains now hang between shade and room, thus affording opportunity for the popular use of color or which is as essential a part of our curtains as it is of every other part of the strictly modern house.

Glass-curtains may be shirred on rods or on cords to which rings are attached, the rods being run through these. The best rods curve in toward the wall at the ends and are unfished by any ornament. For glass-curtains also come tiny extension ones in white enamel, which can hardly be seen against the woodwork. Every rod should be topped by at least an inch of heading, while the bottom of the curtains may be finished by a fringe of the same or a contrasting color, or hemmed, and weighted here and there by a great glass or wooden bead. The ordinary glass-curtain covers the entire window and comes down over the window-trim beneath. In the country or in more informal rooms in town, however, overdraperies are sometimes dispensed with and the glass-curtains are tied back with tasseled cords or "tute-backs" of the same material edged with soft lace. If it is desired to hold the curtains firmly in place, an extra rod may be used at the bottom. In such cases a heading like that above the upper rod should appear below the bottom one.

A recent practical development of the curtain here, long popular in England, is that of the curtain in two or even three tiers, depending from rods at top and middle of the window, and from three tiers are used, from an intermediate point as well. These permit the admission of the lightest whatever point it may be required, and at the same time may be drawn so as to provide protection where it is needed. Used in short windows, however, it must be confessed that they present a somewhat "bubbled-off" appearance, and for this reason they are best adapted to long windows.—From The Designer Magazine for October.

FASHION HINTS

SHORT CAPE BACK

The short cape is coming back to favor this season, particularly with the one-piece dress.

JADE ORNAMENTS

Lovely carved jade ornaments make distinctive trimming for a long-waisted frock of black satin.

HIGH COLLARS AGAIN

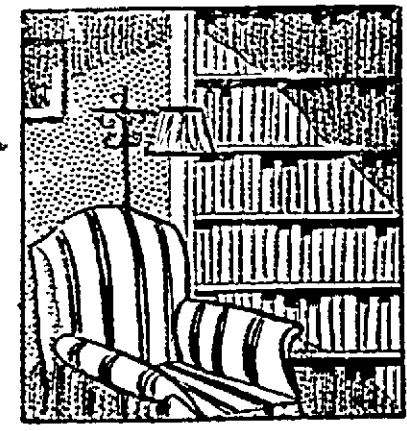

Tailored vests are again being worn and there are many high-collared effects of lace and fine linen.

JEWELLED BUTTONS

Tiny buttons for spring costumes come in a variety of sizes and shapes and are frequently jeweled.

SMART JACKET OF FUR

Here is one of the jackets of fur, tailored as carefully as if it were cloth, that will be very popular for spring. The pockets and sleeves are bound with braid and the collar turns over in a thoroughly businesslike fashion. The fur is leopard, one of the smartest of furs for spring. While not actually a necessity, such a coat is extremely useful in our climate and most attractive in appearance.

LETTER FROM PAULA PERIER TO JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT, CONTINUED

I am sure our baby is not a child of destiny because you and I, my dear, are very ordinary human creatures and we had nothing to lay at the feet of Fate to make her give any more to our child than to thousands of other misguided men and women who have not counted on the future while living wholly in the glamor of the present.

I have come to the conclusion that all this which is to be our boy's because of your wife Leslie—I am not sure that she would like me to call her Leslie, but I do it to myself and to my God when I thank Him for her daily.

It is not to you, John Prescott, that I owe my belief in a God and a feeling that somewhere something somewhere everything will be all right, but to your wife.

The other night I heard a man—a moving picture actor—talk upon the new kind of religion which has for its basis one's attraction of the All-good to oneself. The theory being that if you are good, that if you acknowledge that all is good within you, you can not help but be all the good you ask for and believe is yours.

To us little Jack was a burden. He was a constant reminder of our sin. I loved him more than anything in my life, but I never thought of that love without more or less unhappiness. I could always see the bar sinister across his forehead. With Leslie it has all been different. She loves you much more than I ever did who do not love you the least little bit now. She loved you so much that she could love your child without prejudice. Her love was better than mine ever was and because "she loved much" I almost feel that even my sins have been vicariously forgiven me.

It's a strange thing that I have been writing to you an entirely different letter than I intended. What I meant to say was that little Jack having become a very rich boy, he doesn't need anything that I can do for him. He has love, wealth and position and the best thing that I can give to him now will be to forget that he ever was mine just as I have forgotten you, mon ami. I am going from now on to forget that I have ever lived before I came to this beautiful place.

When I knew you I was still quite French. If you remember I could not speak the language without putting it in to French idioms. Today I am entirely American—except when I want to be French.

So you are going over to Pittsburgh to live and little Jack will probably be one of the great capitalists of industry of the future. You will probably take him into the plant as soon as he comes out of college.

For once I have written you just what was in my heart. I am not going to write you again—unless something comes up which is very important to me.

I dare you to tell Leslie that you have received a letter from me and that I am sending my love to her because I know that God has been good to me in letting me know at least one person who is not a bore in letting me know one good woman who is worth all the men in the world. PAULA.

TOMORROW: Letter from John Alden Prescott to Leslie Prescott.

A BAD SHOT
"Yes," said the teacher, "we have several plants and flowers named with the prefix 'dog.' Of course, the 'dog-rose' and 'dog-rose' are well known to you all. Can any of you tell me others?"

For some seconds the class remained dumb. Then a bright idea flashed the face of an urchin, and up went his hand.

"Collie flowers, miss!" — London Weekly Telegraph.

To Flatter A Woman Is To Say She's Thin

After a love affair a woman always has a good cry. A man usually laughs!

No man ever really knows a woman until he has a love letter from her.

The life of a woman with her husband is a series of experiments. And the wise wife is the one who realizes that neither beauty nor wit can hold her mate as a working knowledge of a good cook book can!

QUESTIONS-ANSWERS
Dear Miss Grey—I am in love with two girls. I have been engaged to one of them for more than a year. She is very wealthy. I met the other one about six months ago. She has no money but to me she seems the most wonderful thing in the world. Now what shall I do—marry the girl with money or the poor one whom I love?—Lewis.

The sole purpose of marriage is to permit two people who love each other to live together and rear a family. Money ought not to be considered at all. The decent thing for you to do is to tell the girl with money that you find you do not care for her. It may hurt her for the time, but in the long run she will be happier for knowing it now instead of later.

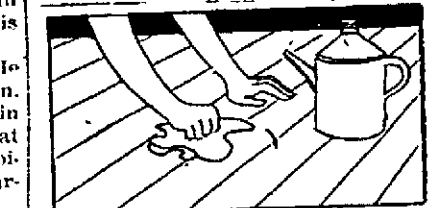

Dear Miss Grey—For some time I have been going with a man several years older than myself. I call him my "steady." He is very jealous, and so I have had to give up all my school friends.

Last week I went to a glee club concert with a boy my age. My "steady" is terribly angry about this. He won't speak to me. Shall I drop him, or shall I apologize? And do you think I would be happy with a man so unreasonably jealous?—Dubuque Town.

Yes, I think you would be happy with a man whom you loved, no matter how unreasonably jealous he happened to be. But do you think you love this man? I don't. If you did, you would be glad that he was jealous of you, and you would have no desire to go to parties with the boy who is your own age, or any other man, for that matter. Don't apologize. There's no need for it, so long as you are not engaged to the man you call your "steady."

Household Hints

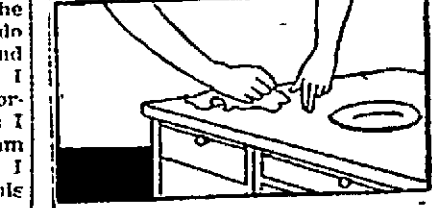

TO CLEAN FLOORS
One of the best ways of cleaning hardwood floors that have become spotted and dirty is by wiping them up with gasoline.

HANDY STRAINER
A vegetable strainer that just fits the top of the sauce pan is a great help in the kitchen.

WILL REMOVE INKSPOTS
To remove old inkspots from a varnished desk, mix equal parts of vinegar and linseed oil and apply with a soft cloth.

Health Hints

BEWARE OF SWEETS
Sweets make a good servant but a bad master. Mrs. Mann of Anytown learned in her study of foods for health's sake.

They contain concentrated energy, which makes them capable of being transformed very quickly in the system to energy.

This explains why one, when fatigued, feels freshened up so quickly after eating some sweets. This is not good, however, and if more sweets be eaten the edge of the appetite is dulled so that one does not eat enough of the proper foods when need time comes.

Children, especially, are too apt to satisfy the pangs of hunger by sweets. They have learned that they get satisfaction from it, but they do not appreciate the danger.

Sweets are a good food in their place, but they should be in cooked foods or at the end of the meal. Overcome the candy habit in children if you would have them strong and healthy and able to resist disease. Too much candy robs the cheeks of their resiliency, helps to keep them, even, from being them back when they have been lost.

Breakfast—Three large unweakened stewed prunes, 1 poached egg on 1 thin crisp piece whole wheat bread, 1 cup hot water.

Luncheon—One-half cup hot consommé, 6 radishes, 4 toasted whole wheat bread sticks, 2 tablespoons strawberry Bavarian cream, 1 cup skimmed milk.

Dinner—One nut timbale, 4 tablespoons asparagus, 1/2 head lettuce, 1 small peach.

Bedtime—One cup skimmed milk, Total calories, 1181. Protein, 203; fat 391; carbohydrate, 557. Iron, .0172 gram.

During hot weather a hearty breakfast often carries one well through the day. Hot noutline seldom stimulates an appetite and a hot evening fails to pep one up to the eating point.

The strawberry Bavarian cream is a concession to your sweet tooth, but you must sacrifice some place else to have it. It may make you very warm, too, because of its high fat content.

One day of each week should be a meatless day. The reducing diet is a bit unbalanced, so as to make animal protein is most beneficial. The nut timbales take the place of meat and bread, are very nourishing, but do not supply the minerals found in meat. Your part of skimmed milk, radishes, lettuce and prunes furnish this need.

Breakfast—Six large sweetened stewed prunes, 1/2 cup cooked cereal, 1 tablespoon cream, 1 poached egg on 1 slice whole wheat toast, 2 tablespoons creamed potatoes, hot water, 2 muffins, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon orange marmalade.

Mid-morning lunch—One cup orange juice, 4 graham crackers.

Luncheon—One cup hot consommé, 4 toasted bread sticks, 1 stuffed green pepper, 4 tablespoons strawberry Bavarian cream, 1 piece sponge cake, 1 cup whole milk.

Afternoon tea—One cup chocolate with 1 tablespoon whipped cream, 2 brown bread and butter sandwiches.

Dinner—One nut timbale, 4 tablespoons asparagus in cream, 1 large twice-baked potato, 1/2 head lettuce with 2 tablespoons French dressing, 2 peaches sliced, 2 teaspoons sugar, 3 nut cookies, 1 Parker House roll, 1 tablespoon butter.

Stuffing Gives Delicious Taste To Lenten Fish

Whether people observe Lent in the kitchen or not, for the sake of their health they should use less meat as spring days come.

BAKED HERRING
Allow one medium-sized fish for two persons. Have fish cleaned and boned. Wash carefully in very cold water and dry between towels. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and few drops of lemon juice. Roll in fine corn meal. Put into a well-greased shallow pan or on a baking sheet, skin side down. Brown skin side and then turn and brown flesh side. Bake 20 or 25 minutes in a hot oven. Serve garnished with slices of lemon.

Baking the fish in the oven prevents the odor of the cooking fish from penetrating through the house.

BROILED HALIBUT STEAK
Have fish cut in inch slices, one and one-half pounds each. Wash steaks and wipe as dry as possible. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and place in a well greased broiler. Turn often while broiling. When fish is tender and a delicate brown remove from broiler to hot platter, spread with softened butter and sprinkle with paprika.

To remove fish from broiler loosen on one side, turn and loosen from other side. A double-bladed broiler is imperative for the broiling of most kinds of fish.

Whole fish are turned but once during broiling, the skin side being broiled first and then the flesh side.

BAKED AND STUFFED FISH
Any fish weighing from two to four or five pounds can be stuffed and baked. Rinse fish, small cod, had dock, lake trout, whitefish and mackerel are delicious baked and make a substantial "plate de resistance" for dinner.

Oyster stuffing is particularly "light" with cod and halibut and bread or cracker stuffing is always good with any fish. Mushrooms are much to the fish if a company dinner is served.

MUSHROOM STUFFING
Two cups bread crumbs, four tablespoons melted butter, six tablespoons chopped mushrooms, one tablespoon capers, one teaspoon tabasco sauce.

Squeeze bread crumbs out of water. Add melted butter, mushrooms, capers and tabasco sauce and mix well.

Adventures Of The Twins

Elbow Grease
Mister Peg Leg, the tawny peddler man, and Nancey and Nick, the Twins, came to Mrs. Bunny's house next and knocked on the back door.

"There's nobody at home," called Mrs. Bunny's voice. "Go away, Reddy Fox, I'm not here at all."

"It's not Reddy Fox, Mrs. Bunny," called Peg Leg through the keyhole. "It's Peg Leg and the Twins. We have something to show you."

At that the door flew open and there stood Mrs. Bunny, all smiles. "Well, I declare," she said cordially. "I never was so surprised in my life. Come right in. And please excuse this kitchen. The boys wipe their faces on my towel with-out getting all the dirt off first; as for their feet, I might as well ask that chair there to wipe its feet, as those little insects. There's mud enough in this kitchen to plant corn."

"Then perhaps, I can sell you something to keep it clean," said Mister Peg Leg starting to undo his back. "I've got almost everything."

"That's fine," beamed Mrs. Bunny. "Then I suppose I can get a nice big package of Elbow Grease from you. They say it's so good for keeping things clean."

Mister Peg Leg scratched his head thoughtfully. "Elbow Grease, ah, you say, Mrs. Bunny? Did I understand you to say 'Elbow Grease'?"

"Yes," nodded Mrs. Bunny. "All my life I've heard of Elbow Grease and Mister Elbow Grease keep it in his store, I was sure you would have some."

"I have all sorts of soap and cleaning things," said Mister Peg Leg, "but this must be a brand new invention."

"Oh, no," said Nancey quickly. "I've heard of it, too. Last Saturday

French Set Fashion In Home Making

New York—French women not only lead the world in styles—

They can also set the fashion in home making.

Mary Borden, authoress, an American woman, says this. Since her marriage to Branderham General Spears, English liberal, she has divided her time between Paris, London and America, and should be able to judge these three nations quite impartially.

"But few foreigners get into the real French homes and they do not realize that the same art and workmanship goes into their daily life which is exercised to make their styles unique and fascinating," she says.

"Every woman despite her station, can cook, sew and keep house, as well as be charming. She also has an excellent business sense and can make her money work."

"The British woman fundamentally dislikes housework. If she can, she will hire a housekeeper—but if too poor she will neglect housework."

"American women are not particularly good housekeepers because they don't have to be. Delicateness, so far as they are concerned, do their work. So she spends most of her time having a good time."

"You have only to seek the Englishman, Frenchman and American at the table to realize the different home conditions."

"To a Frenchman," she says, "eating is a fine art. He orders a dinner with a fine appreciation of foods and combinations. The women of his country have given him good food for so long he is a connoisseur."

"The American is quite lacking in discrimination in food. He is like a child in a candy shop wanting all the gay and gaudy bonbons regardless of their contents."

"The Englishman eats merely to be fed. He takes neither artistic nor childlike joy in his food. He wants something substantial and wants lots of it."

"In France you will not find the woman so interested in politics as the English woman, or as interested in causes as the American."

"But you will find her exerting so strong an influence in her own home, because of her housewifely virtues, that you wonder why the English and American women do not learn the lessons the French woman has mastered."

when Mother asked Nora how she got her dove to shine so, Nora said, "Elbow Grease," means, just like that."

"That's right," added Nick. And I heard Daddy ask the garage man how he cleaned the car the other day and he said, "Soap and water and lots of Elbow Grease."

"I knew I was right," declared Mrs. Bunny positively. "And if you have no Elbow Grease, Mister Peg Leg, there is nothing else I care for today."

"Very well, Mrs. Bunny," said the fairy peddler, tying up his pack again. "If you have made up your mind, I suppose I can't talk you into changing it. Good day!"

And away went all three of them.

SUFFERED AFTER BIRTH OF BABY

Trouble Caused by Getting Up Too Soon. Relieved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Taleville, New York. "I thought it would interest you to know what benefit I have derived from taking your medicine. A few days after the birth of my third child I got up too quick. Then just before my fifth child was born I had inflammation of the bladder and displacement. Seeing your advertisement in Liverpool (England) paper I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and that was the best confinement I had. Whenever I feel run down I always take the Vegetable Compound as a tonic. We have just removed from Brockville (Canada) so I was pleased when the store ordered the medicine for me and I got it today. I would not be without it for any price and I recommend it to ladies around here because I feel so sure it will benefit any woman who takes it." — Mrs. AGNES TAYLOR, Taleville, New York.

Women can depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve them from all peculiarities of their menstrual system.

Ruth Clouts 2 Homers But Yanks Lose To Dodgers

Brooklyn Goes Into Lead In Pre Season Games With Yanks

Harris Picks Walter Johnson to Put End to Giant Victories in Seventh Game at Memphis on Monday

New York—So called one-man diamond teams of a day frequently do not win ball games, even the individual is Babe Ruth.

Although Ruth planted two balls among the suburbs of Chattanooga Sunday and tapered off this performance with a single in the closing inning, the Yankees lost to the Brooklyn Dodgers 13-6. The result put the National League entry in the pre-season series on the long end of the test up to this time.

Ruth proved that a sleepless night, due to chills and fever, was not sufficient to dim his batting eye. The Giants passed through eleven delicious innings at Memphis with the Memphis Chicks, tying the southern League club 11 to 11.

JOHNSON ON SLATE

Washington, D. C.—Walter Johnson was slated to try his hand again Monday at baffling the Giant bats when the Senators resumed their spring series with the Nationals at Memphis. Dutch Reuther was named to share the pitching.

Manager Harris was reported hopeful of getting a better than even break in the remaining seven games to be played although the Giants' fire to one advantage Monday made the chance of winning the series admittedly slim for the Senators.

The champions took the second game Sunday from Mobile, 5 to 3.

BROWNS DEFEAT NASHVILLE

St. Louis—St. Louis American League baseball club forced the Volunteers to accept a 12 to 2 defeat at Nashville Sunday, expecting to repeat the victory in the last of the Nashville series Monday. The Browns got thirteen hits for a total of twenty-four bases.

SOX AND CURS COMPLETE TRAINING

Chicago, Ill.—After defeating the Shreveport team 5 to 3, the Sox left for Little Rock, Ark. Sunday night. It was the eighth time the Sox had whipped the Gasers and the fourteenth victory for them on their training trip. The Sox played the Little Rock team Monday.

The clubs also completed training at their camp at Catalina Island and left for Kansas City after losing to the Oakland team 3 to 0.

YOST NAMES QUALITIES FOR U. M. GRID COACHES

Ann Arbor—Commenting on the selection of Harry Kipke as backfield coach for the 1925 University of Michigan football squad, Director Fielding H. Yost stated the qualifications every coach must have before he can be considered for a position at Michigan. Three questions should be satisfactorily answered before engaging a coach, Yost said.

The first question to ask is: "What manner of man is this? How does he think and act? Is he sound and clean and fine so that his influence will be inspiring and uplifting? Will he set a fine example—not by posing but by being—the sort of men we want each of his boys to be? If this question cannot be answered favorably, stop, then and there. No other qualities can supplant the fundamental quality of character."

IS HE THOROUGH?

The next question is: "Just how well does he know what he wants to teach? Is he thorough—or superficial? Is he progressive—or reactionary? Is he original—or without imagination? In short, can he bring with him a solid knowledge and will he keep that knowledge constantly abreast of changing conditions?"

And finally: "Can he teach others what he knows? Can he take knowledge, and expressiveness and impressiveness of speech and action season it with enthusiasm and give his students something that will not only be easy to grasp but always pleasant to master?"

"We haven't a coach at Michigan," Yost concluded, "who does not measure up to that high standard and we always shall."

DIEBOLD OF BADGERS WAS STELLAR GUARD

Madison—In Marshall Diebold, stellar guard, Wisconsin had one of the best defensive players in 1925. Big Ten basketball circles since the days of that sterling duo, Williams and Diebold.

For the past two seasons Diebold rated as about the best bet the Badgers possessed. He was a marvelous man on the defense, usually holding his opponents to a small number of goals.

Diebold's greatness was partially dimmed because he was playing with a weak team, one of the weakest in the Western Conference. But he was good enough to gain a place on the all-conference quintets for the past two seasons.

Washington, D. C.—Appointment by Secretary Works of the Central committee to organize and promote golf and tennis in the army was announced.

AZARELLA AND JOE JAWSON TO MEET AT GREEN BAY ON MAY 1

Winner of Bay Match Likely to Meet Sammy Mandell in Milwaukee

Hymie Lebo, manager of Joe Azarella, has finally hit the running board with both feet forward.

For three months Azarella and Lebo have been getting matches from time to time only to have them called off at the eleventh hour. Hymie was after a Mandell match in Milwaukee, but lost out. He was offered the match at Madison, Wis., but declined because he wanted to show Joe against the "Flash" in his home town.

Now the two youngsters are booked for two matches and have two more in the making. The first will be with Frankie Burns, of the Moha stable, at the Milwaukee Coliseum, April 13, when Joey Sangor and Peter Sanger, who met in the windup and Ed die Anderson tackles Bushy, will be the main event.

The second match will be at 135 pounds, which will give Burns a shade the advantage. They will travel eight rounds.

On May 1, Azarella will don the gloves again and go against Joe Jawson of the youth side in a ten round match before George Kolochesky's club at Green Bay. They are to clash at 135 pounds, which will be easy for both. Jawson is a tough campaigner and will keep Joe on the edge.

The third match will be a "pipin" for Milwaukee, but the promoters were too busy bringing in outside talent to give the local lads a chance. The Green Bay fans and those of the Fox river valley will benefit as a result, and it is expected that a packed house will greet the two Joes when they meet in Green Bay. The winner of this match has been promised a bout with Sammy Mandell in Milwaukee, providing the "Flash" will agree to sign up with the Milwaukee club.

WITCHITA FIVE WINS CAGE TITLE

Chicago—A fighting group of youngsters came up from Wichita, in the heart of the Kansas wheat fields, and Saturday night won the national basketball championship for high schools by defeating El Reno, Okla., 27 to 6, in the final round.

The victory was clean cut and decisive, the outcome never being in doubt after the opening gun. El Reno, after fighting its way through heavy stalling all week against some of the best prep schools in the country, was simply outclassed in the final game. The boys showed the fighting spirit of Oklahoma and played gamely against terrific odds, but were unable to score throughout the entire half, that period ending, 18 to 0, in favor of the Kansas team. With Wichita the winner, El Reno second, Westport high of Kansas City captured third place an hour earlier by whipping Wheeling, Miss., 25 to 21.

Dixie high, St. George, Utah, won the consolation tournament, being eliminated early by defeating Southeastern high, Detroit, 21 to 15. Franklin high, of Portland, Ore., finished third.

Wichita's victory upheld the precedent that has been set—that teams from the nation's smaller cities win the national title. Teams from Chicago, Kansas City, Detroit and other large cities were eliminated early in the tournament.

Windsor, Col., high school, with 12 boys enrolled, won the national championship last year. Kansas City, Kan., won in 1923; Lexington, Ky., in 1922; Cedar Rapids, Iowa, in 1921, and Winnetka, Ind., in 1920.

So completely did the Kansas team outclass the Oklahoma Saturday night that Wichita sent its second team into the fray at the start of the fourth quarter when the score stood 25 to 2.

McBurney, Wichita's sparkling center, led his team's scoring, sinking four field goals and one free throw.

WIRE WORKS PINSTERS RECEIVE CHAMP MEDALS

Appleton Wire Works bowlers, champions of the Y. M. C. A. Industrial League for 1925, will receive their medals during the coming week, according to A. P. Jensen, physical director of the Y. M. C. A. The medals arrived on Saturday and Mr. Jensen will make the official presentation within the next few days.

EIGHT BELOIT CAGERS GIVEN COURT EMBLEMS

Beloit—Beloit college awarded its official basketball "B" to eight members of last season's squad, according to an announcement coming from the athletic department Saturday. The men given letters were Capt. Watson, Vondrahek, Vandolus, Hastings, Fitzgerald, Depau, Rosserbo and Anderson. Two of the men, Capt. Watson, four years a member of the "Blue Devils," and Rosserbo, substitute guard, will be graduated in June.

PIRATES WILL HAVE SPEEDY OUTFIELD

Carey, Cuyler, Grantham, Rank With Country's Best Speed Merchants

San Francisco—The Pittsburgh Pirates will have one of the fastest outfielders in the major leagues this season. For in Max Carey, Hazen Cuyler and George Grantham, Manager McKechnie boasts three speed merchants deluxe.

Carey rates as one of the greatest baserunners the game has produced. He has led the National League in stealing for several seasons. Last year he swiped 49 bases. Cuyler, in his first year in the main tent, came through with 32 pilfers, ranking next to Carey in the pilfering are.

Two seasons ago, Grantham, then a youngster, ran Carey a close race for top honors. The Pirate finally beat the lot out, but only after a hectic fight.

This season will find the Pirates exceptionally strong on the paths. For besides the trio mentioned, McKechnie will also have Pie Traynor, Carson, Bigbee and Glenn Wright, all fast chaps on the bases.

A year ago Pittsburgh topped the majors with 181 steals. And with Grantham, acquired in a trade with the Cubs, added to the list, the Pirates should hang up an even better record.

While it is true that base-pilfering art has been more or less in the background during recent seasons, a stolen base now and then nevertheless, comes in handy, especially in a close game, and McKechnie figures on leaving no stone unturned in an effort to increase the team's offensive. In totting a team of fast men he believes his chances for success are all the more enhanced.

CARR-PINDLE, MORY-BLISS IN TITLE-BILLIARD GAME

In one of the closest and hardest fought games of three-cushion billiards ever played in Appleton, H. Mory and H. Bliss evened the score with E. Carr and H. Pindle, valley champs. Friday night at the Carr, Hanson and Pindle Billiard parlors when they took the long end of the 50 to 48 score. The point margin was 12 in favor of the victors as Carr and Pindle were scheduled to drop 60 points to 50 for Mory and Bliss. In a previous game Carr and Pindle had won by a large margin.

BADGERS LOSE FIRST TILT TO STRONG ST. LOUIS NINE

St. Louis—The University of Wisconsin Badgers lost their first game of the season in spectacular fashion here Saturday to the St. Louis university Billikens by a 9 to 8 score. The pitching of Stanton of St. Louis and the timely hitting of the locals accounted for the Badger downfall.

Behind, 4 to 5, at the start of the ninth inning, the northerners made a strong bid for the contest by serving three runs for a two run lead, but the locals retaliated in like manner in their half of the inning and spoiled the visitors' chances. Schrenk and Stohl pitched good ball for Wisconsin but the latter succumbed to Billikens battering at the ninth time, Stanton struck out nine Wisconsin batters.

440 YARD RELAY TO BE FAST EVENT AT DRAKE TRACK MEET

Wisconsin Squad Among Those Expected to Provide Biggest Competition

Des Moines—"They go round so fast they make me dizzy."

Without doubt that will be the verdict of more than one track fan as he watches the 440-yard university relay race at the sixteenth annual Drake university relay meet here, April 24-25.

Some of the fastest century sprinters in the country will make the clatters sizzle in this event at the Drake classic as each star covers his allotted 110 yards and passes the baton on to the next runner on his team.

The present record for the 440-yard relay on the Drake track is held by Illinois. In 1923 Coach Harry Gill's great quartet, composed of Sweet, Evans, Hughes and Ayres covered the quarter-mile in 0:42.3 for a new American intercollegiate record.

While Coach Gill does not boast the shining stars included in his great quartet of 1923, Illinois will be represented by four great performers in this event again this year and by smooth baton exchange may win first honors.

Norwich won the 440-yard relay event at the Drake meet last year, with Illinois second and Notre Dame third. When it comes to doping out the possible winners here next month, Michigan and Wisconsin also must be given a good chance and the other three rivals.

Michigan has Whitman, a star sprinter, around whom to build a great team, while in Michigan's McGowan, Smith and Francis, Wisconsin has a sterling quartet of speed and endurance.

BIG TEN CHAMPION CAGERS BREAK UP

Columbus, O.—Ohio State's basketball team, 1925 Big Ten champions, heard its swan song sung here Thursday night at the second annual basketball dinner. Tribute was paid to the team individually and collectively. Gold basketballs marked the final appearance of four players—Capt. Cameron, former Capt. Miner, Shaw and Matuseff.

Former varsity athletes, the student body and admirers of Johnny Miner, all-conference forward and captain, presented him with a chest of silver.

MANY PRIZES FOR PREP RUNNERS IN M. U. MEET

Madison—Winners of team events in the third annual Marquette university interstate high school relay carnival at the new Marquette stadium on Saturday, May 2, will receive handsome trophies from Milwaukee fraternal and civic organizations.

Coach Conrad M. Jennings of the Marquette track team announced yesterday a list of prizes. A cup, to be known as the Lion's club trophy, will go to the team winning the mile relay in the open class. The Milwaukee Athletic club trophy will be a bronze statue, representing a runner at the finish, at be awarded to the team winning the sprint relay for Wisconsin high schools.

MEDALS FOR INDIVIDUALS

Marquette will award medals to members of the winning relay teams, and also to winners of the special events. Additional trophies are expected, according to Coach Jennings. Numerous medals and invitations for the relay were mailed out on Friday and Saturday. Entries are expected to start arriving late this week.

THREE DIVISIONS TO RACE

The relay carnival is divided into three sections this year, to conform to requirements of state and athletic associations. They will be one division for member schools of the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic association; another for out of state high schools and non-W. I. A. A. members; and a third for military schools and academies. A dual meet between Marquette and Ripon will feature the morning program.

ROCKNE DROPS 40 MEN FROM SQUAD ON SUNDAY

South Bend, Ind.—Coach Knute Rockne of the "Fighting Irish" cut 40 men from his grid squad after Sunday afternoon's spring practice session in order to make the work more efficient. This left him 50 men with which to form a varsity squad for Notre Dame for 1925. Spring practice will continue for 10 days.

K-C SQUAD FIRST TO ENTER "Y" NET MEET

Kimberly-Clark volleyball team of Kimberly, is the first net squad to answer the invitation for entrants to the district Y. M. C. A. volleyball meet here on April 18, according to A. P. Jensen, physical director of the Y. M. C. A. The invitations were sent out about the middle of last week and the Kimberly application was received Saturday. Only six squads can be entered in the district meet, so that the "first-come, first-served" idea prevails. The winner is entered in the meet for the state volleyball crown which is held here on April 25. All district winners of the state will be entered in the final meet.

CHICAGO BOWLERS TOP DOUBLES AT BUFFALO PIN MEET

Buffalo, N. Y.—Chicago took a second leadership in the American Bowling Congress silver jubilee tournament when Edward Schupp and Edward Karlich Sunday toppled 1,318 nippers in the two-man event. The new high two man score follows within 24 hours after Alfred Green of Chicago had taken the lead in the singles Saturday night.

Schupp's rolling featured the high two-man set, this star pin knight counting 248, 221 and 233 for a total of 702 pins. He followed with 213, 217 and 200 for 630 in the singles but with only 400 in the five-man event, barely reached 1,800 in all events.

Team singles for Schupp and Karlich were 461, 424 and 433. Karlich counting 213, 203 and 200 for a total of 616 pins. Their performance was a most remarkable one in that neither bowler failed to reach 200 in any game.

H. Williams and L. Jordan of Plymouth, Michigan, scoring a total of 1,267, took fifth place in the two-man event, a 273 game by Jordan featuring. His other scores were 220 and 198 for a total of 698.

H. Rood of St. Louis shot 279 in his first game and followed with 224 and 186, he and J. Ritter scoring a total of 1,243 pins. Other high two man marks were 1,215 by H. Trescott and J. Krizek of Chicago, J. Skinner and O. Austin of St. Louis scoring 1,214, Schoenherr and J. Pons, Milwaukee 1,203, and W. Mathews and F. H. Hueber, Indianapolis, 1,202.

COLUMBIA HAS PROSPECTS FOR WINNING BALL TEAM

New York—Prospects for a winning baseball team at Columbia University are said to be exceptionally bright this season. Fact is, one of the best outfits in years is anticipated.

The squad, which is coached by Andy Coakley, former pitcher with the Philadelphia Athletics, is as large as one as the Blue and White school has had out in a long while. Moreover, the material seems to be there. Coakley has several good pitchers, and a nice bunch of promising infield and outfield candidates. What he appears to need mostly is a bit stouter attack. And he hopes to get this before the season gets well under way.

MADISON FIVE BOWL HIGH

Guardian Life's of Madison, Wis., also threatened the leaders for two games when the started out with 954 and followed with a 1,010 game. They shot 926 in the third string for a total of 2,889. Hackett, with 610 pins for the three games was their star bowler.

COUZENS' PROBE GETTING HOTTER AS DIGGERS DIG

Startling Disclosures Follow Investigation of Internal Revenue Bureau

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington.—Senator Couzens' investigation of the internal revenue bureau of the Treasury Department took a long time to develop much heat, but when it finally did begin to warm up it reached the boiling point in a hurry.

It was obvious from the first that here was an inquiry with major in it, potentially.

Its aim was to open up such scandals as might exist in the collection of income taxes and in prohibition enforcement. In the former subject large numbers of people are deeply interested. In the latter, nearly everybody is. Rumors have been current of abuses in connection with the former. In connection with the latter, rumor isn't a strong enough word.

Consequently it was a little disappointing when the Couzens investigation ran along for weeks and months and no sensation came to the surface.

REASON FOR THIS
There were several reasons for this.

To begin with, a lot of digging into uninteresting figures had to precede the investigators' arrival at any definite conclusions. While this digging was going on there was nothing to give out.

In the second place, considerable doubt existed as to the amount of income tax information it was legally permissible to make public. The present law does, indeed, provide publicity so far as the matter of assessments is concerned but most authorities hold that further details, such as Senator Couzens began to take into more and more the farther he went, cannot be revealed, under penalty of fine, imprisonment, or both.

Thirdly, the "old guard" senators, including some of Couzens' fellow committeemen, opposed the investigation all along and hampered it all they could. Couzens himself has been bitterly blamed for persisting in it that he was denied a place on the powerful Senate finance committee and is classed almost as a member of the La Follette-Brookhart-Ladd-Fraser group.

These things explain why, during its earlier stages, the inquiry was dragged.

GATHERING PUNCH
When Senator Couzens finally did get around to making a few disclosures, however, they had plenty of punch.

He prefaced them by mentioning "many millions" as having been lost to the government through mismanagement in income tax collection. He referred to the settlement of a $913,841 claim against the Atlantic Gulf and West India Steamship Co. and its subsidiaries for $2,600,000. He specified the United States Steel Corporation as a big beneficiary of similar compromises. What perhaps hurt worst of all, he accused the treasury of having made the same kind of arrangement with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's own Aluminum Company of America.

It was the very day after this that Internal Revenue Commissioner Blair, a subordinate of Secretary Mellon, reopened Couzens' 1919 income tax, on the ground that Couzens has underpaid it by something like 10 or 11 millions.

So at last the fight has started. With so thorough a slugging as Senator Couzens on one side and so experienced a writer as Secretary Mellon on the other it can be depended on to keep improving the longer it lasts—for the income tax part of the inquiry isn't finished yet and not even a start has been made on prohibition—until somebody is knocked out.

Fellowship Of Prayer

Daily Lenten Bible reading prepared for Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America

The Temple of the Holy Spirit
Read Lk. 19:45-48. Read also Jn. 2:13-22. Text: Lk. 19:46. It is written, And my house shall be a house of prayer.

MEDITATION—While it is true that we can each one decide for himself the way he will go in life, it is just as true that having decided on a course of action we must accept the results which mark the end of that course. There is moral authority in the world and the end of the journey is marked from the beginning. Jesus did not make the punishment of evil, he simply stated what that punishment is. His Father's house was a house of prayer and men had made it an evil place. He did not temporize or seek to persuade but drove the evil-doers from the temple that good men might come and worship. Thus we must cleanse our lives. We cannot keep evil thoughts and holy ambitions in the same heart. Let us cleanse the temple of the Holy Spirit.

PRAYER—Almighty God our Father, create within us clean hearts. Drive out all unholy desires and passions. Make thou our souls fit companions of thy spirit. Let us feel dependence upon thy word. May thy authority rule in our lives. In Christ's name. Amen.

Nose Shine

Now made impossible

By Edna Wallace Hopper

My experts lately sent me a remarkable discovery. It is a dainty, fragrant, greaseless cream which prevents shiny noses and foreheads.

It does this in two ways. First, it absorbs the excess oil, then it reduces the enlarged pores. It is a perfect delight. I apply it once or twice a day. Then I never powder nose or forehead, and I never worry about shine.

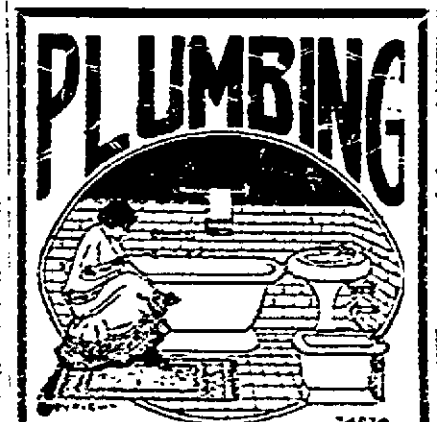

Every day a lady woman will want it, so I have had it prepared for you under the name Edna Wallace Hopper's No-Shine.

Druggists and toilet counters now supply it at 60c per tube. You will find it one of the greatest helps that experts have created.

I shall gladly mail a sample if you'll send this coupon.

LUMBER AND FUEL FIRM GOES IN OIL BUSINESS

Three gasoline and oil tanks with a capacity of 15,000 gallons each will be installed in the yards of the local Lumber and Coal Co., on N. Lawrence in the near future. One of these will be used for storing high test gasoline and the other two for fuel oil. The company also plans to erect a filling station at its Lawrence yards, and the pumps for this already have arrived.

The Trust Guaranteed Bond Standard

There are seven basic requirements which the property securing any TRUST GUARANTEED BOND must meet before the issue is underwritten and guaranteed.

1. TYPE—The property securing a TRUST GUARANTEED BOND must be either an office building, hotel, apartment building or commercial development in one of the larger American cities. This requirement is necessary to assure various sources of income.
2. LOCATION—Its location must be in the metropolitan area properly adapted to the type and usage of the space. This is fundamental not only to safeguard against depreciation of realty value but also assure increased value through unearned increment.
3. VALUE—A TRUST GUARANTEED BOND cannot be more than a 57% loan on the property values securing it. This limit is set to make certain that at all times the combined land and building value is 77% greater than the bond issue.
4. INCOME—The net income from a property securing a TRUST GUARANTEED BOND must be in excess of the average annual bond cost, including average annual interest plus average annual retirement. This is an important prerequisite to safeguard against any need of drawing on the Guaranty Trust Fund which is growing daily and held by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers Co-operative National Bank.
5. SERIAL AMORTIZATION—A TRUST GUARANTEED BOND must be a serial bond, the average serial payments of which are not less than 4% annum nor more than 7%. This is done to make the income from the property automatically retire the bond in from fourteen to twenty-five years and avoid any future refinancing which is problematical at best. It is arrived at by a close study of the length of life and utility of this type of property.
6. SINKING FUND—The sinking fund provisions in connection with TRUST GUARANTEED BONDS must provide that the borrower pay into the fund monthly an amount equal to one-twelfth of the total annual fixed charges in connection with the property and the bond. Regular monthly payments eliminate the hazard accompanied by the payment of larger sums at less frequent intervals.
7. INSURANCE—The property securing a TRUST GUARANTEED BOND must be insured to 80% of its insurable value, thus creating a safe margin between the amount of the bond which is 57% and the value of the property in case of loss by fire or destruction by the elements.

On top of all these fundamental precautions every TRUST GUARANTEED BOND holder has the additional safeguard of the Guaranty Trust Fund—an untouched reserve held by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers Co-operative National Bank.
